Action Group of Labor, Business Will Work for Area Progress

By Press-Record Staff Photographer

E. Mathias, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Trijan and Miss Hilda Schroeder, new president of the Women's Division. Dr. Trijan was master-of-ceremonies.

ABIL, a program of joint community service by Agriculture-Business-Industry-Labor — was announced Monday evening during the 31st annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities, held at Southern Illinois University Southwestern.

The action group, led by Carl E. Mathias, Illinois Power Co. service area manager, includes members of a cross-section of occupations and professions. Already functioning, the group is not structured along rigid lines in involving formal selection of participants or membership ratification of its activities.

What it is intended to do is to seek to "push across the goal-line" projects which have broad support by labor, industry, business and agriculture but which, for whatever reason, have not yet been completed and placed in use.

Its primary mission will be action rather than planning. There is no lack of ideas or plans for improvement of life in the Quad-City area, ABIL members say.

They hope to make use of existing plans to accelerate the rate at which mutually desired programs are carried out to a successful conclusion.

It is not proposed as a vehicle to foster labor-management relations or resolve labor-management issues. ABIL can demonstrate, however, that people of all walks of life in the Quad-City area are "ABIL" to work cooperatively to achieve progress and prosperity, it was explained.

Dr. Albert W. Trijan, a local dentist and dental surgeon, discussed the formation of ABIL in a talk following his installation as new president of the Chamber of Commerce.

ABIL objectives were described as including:

1. Early completion of the proposed downtown mall in Granite City.
2. Start and completion of paving and widening of a major traffic artery into this community, the section of Nameoki Road-Highway 203 between Ponton Road and Interstate 70-Chain of Ramoth Road.
3. Establishment of a convention and performing arts center on the SIU-SW campus.
4. Encouragement of agencies participating in the Tri-Cities United Fund to construct headquarters buildings and certain staff services to achieve a reduction in overhead expenses and economies in operating costs.
5. Substantially increased governmental or private use of the extensive facilities at the Granite City Army Installation.

Other objectives which could be made a reality through action by ABIL are to be assigned to it in future months.

Among those working with Mathias will be Howard Kaseberg, Leo H. Kohzen, Paul H. Lichtenberger, Richard Lich, Henry D. Karandjef and Arthur Griffin.

ABIL membership will expand and contract as needed to carry out specific tasks, the audience of nearly 300 at the annual Chamber dinner was told. Dr. Trijan said ABIL has been pledged whatever assistance it needs by the Chamber. It will also call on other individuals and groups to help achieve various improvements. "The Chamber is not only concerned with the business health of our community but also is deeply committed to the betterment of the total community," the new president commented.

He likened the challenge to three steps in health care — diagnosis, treatment and cure.

Quad-City assets mentioned were high-quality school systems, outstanding new hospital facilities and vast, up-to-date manufacturing facilities.

Problems cited were lower industrial employment than in the mid-1960s, a shortage of personnel in the medical profession, underutilization of industrial plants and less than full use of "our greatest single resource—the people of our community."

Dr. Trijan called for "coordinated combined effort by agriculture, business, industry and labor" to work toward and achieve solutions.

He described members of ABIL as a "blue ribbon group" with a motto borrowed from Scotland: "Be prepared." They are mobilizing to respond quickly when the need for action arises, he said.

Noting the release of funds to open the SIU-SW School of Dental Medicine, Dr. Trijan said the American Dental Association accrediting team in its visit here Nov. 4-5 was favorably impressed by the school's staff and advance preparations. He described the dental school as vital because it is the "first of a series of health care schools" which it is hoped can be created in this region.

Guest speaker was Dr. Robert J. Samp, assistant professor of clinical oncology at the University of Wisconsin.

Discussing "Facts of Life, Health and Happiness," the medical doctor urged greater enjoyment of the simple aspects of life and spoke against smoking, drug abuse, immoderate drinking and excessive eating. Food consumption is directly related to length of life, Dr. Samp asserted, urging a hearty breakfast followed during the rest of each day by frequent nibbling of relatively small amounts of food. This permits the body to utilize calories rather than storing up fat, he said.

The fact of communes was traced to many parents' inability to show they love their children as they are, with both faults and virtues.

He warned against "conspiracies of silence" in which different generations fail to freely communicate with each other.

Chamber of Commerce Officers installed along with Dr. Trijan were William F. Winter, Press-Record editor, and Robert Schuergler, Neale Co. plant manager, vice-presidents, and Allen L. Jessen, American Na-

Equipment Permit Plan Is Assailed at Hearing

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A standing-room-only crowd of 50 men packed the magistrate's courtroom in Granite City Tuesday for the first of two hearings on proposed new Illinois Environmental Protection Agency permit regulations.

The controversial regulations would require all businesses responsible for air pollution to obtain permits for new operations causing air pollution, and for modifications to any such existing operations.

The provisions also would require compliance programs, project completion schedules and maintenance programs to be approved by the EPA before permits would be granted.

Dr. John J. Roberts, manager of the division of air pollution control for the IEPA, was the only speaker for the agency during the hearing.

Roberts defended the rules in stating, "I think it is essential that we establish an effective permit operating system if we are ever to reach our goal of cleaner air."

Present System Inadequate
He said the present permit system is inadequate because it controls the sources only prior to their operation. The present system is inadequate to insure the source will remain in compliance with applicable regulations," he said.

He added that approved maintenance programs would provide for periodic cleaning and maintenance of scrubbers, fabric filters and other air pollution control equipment.

"If we are to have the cleaner air we seek, we must insure that equipment is properly maintained and when major repairs require removal, equivalent equipment must be used or the manufacturing must stop during the repair period," he explained.

Roberts told Hearing Examiner Samuel Lawton Jr. that the new rules would require an estimated increase in the size of the EPA permit office in Springfield from 12 employees to 21. He said computerization and other innovations would be utilized to keep the engineering load from becoming excessive under the new regulations.

The estimated "turn around" time, from the time a permit application is received to when it is granted, would be approximately five days, he said.

The proposed regulations re-

New Problem for City Air Board--Lost File

A $26,000 Granite City Air Pollution Control grant file has been lost, delaying the funding of a full-time control department which was to have been activated here Nov. 1.

The three-year-old grant application was approved by the state Environmental Protection Agency in February and received final approval from the federal agency Oct. 12. Funds were to have been received here by Nov. 1 but had not appeared Thursday, prompting an inquiry from Mayor Donald Partney to Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis).

The Mayor received a reply from Melvin Price that the file had been lost by the EPA and a duplicate will be prepared at the Chicago Regional office. Enclosed with the letter was a copy of a telegram sent by Price to William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the federal EPA, requesting his immediate attention "so funds may be delivered as soon as possible."

Meanwhile, the local air pollution control board is interviewing applicants to fill the position of full-time air pollution control officer. Applicants with engineering degrees may contact Mrs. Margie Hall at Granite City Hall.

Township Will Choose Long Lake Fire Board

The three members of the board of trustees of the Long Lake Fire Protection District have been serving without appointment since expiration of their terms—one of them expiring as far back as 1968—and will be replaced by a new board to be named by the Nameoki town board of supervisors. It was disclosed by Nameoki town officials in a meeting Monday night.

The two-fold blow to the status of the present Long Lake fire protection organization, a taxing agency that funds volunteer firefighting service within the district, came in a letter from County Clerk Eulalia Holz listing the expiration dates of the terms of the present fire protection trustees, and in a legal opinion by the township attorney suggesting that the town board proceed with appointment of new trustees.

Miss Holz's letter, responding to a query by Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell, said the trustee terms of John Karlechik, Wilbur Engelle and Thomas Dudley have expired over the past three years. Karlechik's term expired May 6, 1968, Engelle's term expired May 3, and Dudley's term expired May 4, 1970, the town board was informed.

At the same time, Township Attorney William Schooley, in an opinion requested by town board members, recommended that the town board proceed with the appointment of a new board of trustees for the Long Lake fire district under new legislation enacted by the Illinois General Assembly this year.

That legislation authorizes town boards of auditors to appoint trustees of any special district whose boundaries are located wholly within the township. In the past, such appointments were made by the chief judge of the circuit court.

Schooley recommended that in appointing new trustees for the fire district, terms be set for one, two and three years, so that one appointment will be made each year thereafter.

Whitsell told the board that he will notify the three present trustees that their terms have expired and then will advertise for applicants willing to serve in the board posts.

Levee Board Dwindles; May Consult Governor

Possibility that the East Side Levee and Sanitary District may become inoperative through lack of a quorum on the board of trustees developed yesterday following the circuit court conviction of Morris Campbell of East St. Louis on a charge of stealing $50 in levee district funds.

Campbell, 66, former president of the levee board, was found guilty of the charge at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday by a jury of six men and six women who deliberated for two and a half days in circuit court at Belleville.

While Trial Judge Alvin Maeya gave Campbell a year or counsel 20 days in which to file post-trial motions, attorneys pointed out that Campbell's conviction raised the question of automatic forfeiture of his office, a penalty that was assessed a year ago when Campbell and three other members of the levee board were convicted at Belleville on charges of misconduct in office.

That case was appealed, however, and removal from office of all four board members was stayed pending outcome of the appeal.

If Judge Maeya were to overrule a motion for a new trial or a motion to set aside the verdict, Campbell presumably could no longer serve as a trustee. Should Campbell appeal the conviction, a separate order of either the Appellate Court or the Supreme Court would be necessary to permit him to remain in office pending the appeal. This is considered unlikely in view of the earlier conviction on conduct charges.

Need Quorum of 3
This would reduce the levee board to two members—William "Mike" Chersodoff of Venice, now president of the board, and Lawrence Tolar of East St. Louis. Statutes under which the levee district operates requires

Seven Unopposed for County Board

By HARRY BARNES

Press-Record Staff Writer

Barring successful Republican campaigns which political observers believe are unlikely, six Democratic candidates and one Republican aspirant for Madison County's newly aligned district board posts—subject to balloting next year—are assured election without opposition, according to candidate filings completed Monday evening.

Among Democratic candidates who came through the one-week filing period without opponents either in their own party or on the Republican ballot is Nelson Hagnauer, incumbent supervisor of Granite City who filed as a candidate in District 20. Although Hagnauer is located in the same district as Dan Churovich, an incumbent assistant supervisor of Granite City township, Churovich did not seek election to the post. No Republican candidate filed in that district.

Harold Landolt, Alhambra township supervisor and incumbent chairman of the County Board of Supervisors since 1962, did not file. Walter Sparks, incumbent Supervisor of Chautauque Township who filed as a Democrat in District 16, is opposed in the Madison County ballot by Albert Doerr of South Roxana. No Republican candidate filed in that district.

A fight for the one board post of District 26 in the Nameoki township area involves Louis Whitsell, incumbent supervisor, and Edgar Patrick who presently is Nameoki Township collector. Both filed as Democrats. The district has no GOP candidate.

Filing Closed Monday

Filing for the Feb. 8 primary election, when Madison county voters are to nominate one Democratic candidate and one Republican candidate in each of the 29 board districts closed at 5 p.m. Monday at the office of County Clerk Eulalia Holz at Edwardsville. Those who filed petitions of candidacy have until noon Saturday to withdraw. The election to choose 29 county board members from among the nominees will be held April 1.

The lone Republican without opposition on either ballot and therefore assured of a board post is George L. Walter of Godfrey who filed in District 5. Two board districts are without Democratic candidates—Districts 4 and 5 while 18 districts are without GOP candidates.

Avoid Demo Districts
Districts in which Republican candidates failed to file are located for the most part in pre-

United Fund at 85% of Target

"This might be the fourth quarter, but the game is not over. We're moving ahead to meet our goal," Paul H. Kelly, co-vice-chairman of the 1972

Tri-Cities Area United Fund campaign, said Tuesday night at a UT workers' dinner held at the Officers' Club of the Granite City Army Installation.

A total of $331,775, or 85% of the $410,000 goal, was reported. Captains who have met their team goals to this point in the campaign include St. Elizabeth Hospital employees under Donald Lenz and contractor firms under G. H. Sternberg and George Weiss.

Also recognized at Tuesday's meeting for fair share gifts were Laidlaw Steel Co. employees and Air Products & Chemical, Inc., employees.

Division reports to date are: industrial firms under Ed Boyer and Russell Crecelius, $165,511 or 97.3%; commercial under Donald Adams and H. A. Old Fischer, $25,441 or 63.0%; professional under Randall Roberts, $11,073 or 73.8%; residential under Carl E. Mathias, $7,484 or 49.9%; public services under Lawrence McCauley, $13,359 or 66.7%; Madison under Mayor Mike Sasyk, $1,325 or 13.2%; and Venice under Dr. John E. Lee, $1,481 or 29.6%.

Melvin C. Wilmmsmeyer, vice-president of the United Fund, presented awards to the campaign division chairman to loaned executives Donald Treder, Lacey Randolph, Robert Edmonds and Mrs. Phyllis Grimm; and to Lt. Col. John Hengel for his part in setting up the Combined Federal Campaign.

Also receiving plaques for their efforts on behalf of the United Fund were publicity committee members Al T. Barnes III, Carl Baczenas and Paul Hagnauer, and committee members Earl Dotzauer and Gilbert Hall; and agency coordinator Carl Thomsberry.

Special thanks were extended to Kelly and William Horstman, co-vice-chairman of the 1972 campaign, and to campaign chairman Lyle F. Guley.

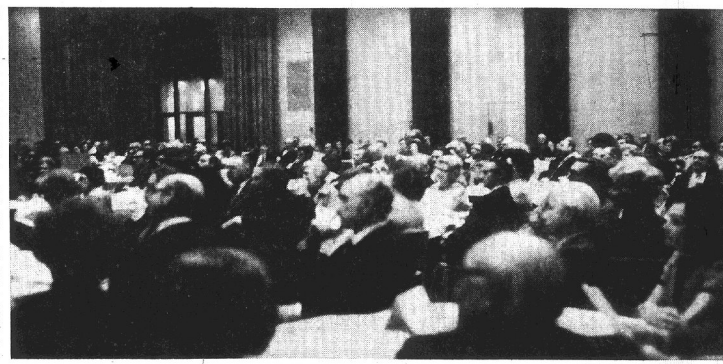

"We truly appreciate the fine spirit and efforts all these workers have displayed through some difficult times," Wilmmsmeyer said.

Special efforts to put the campaign over the top are under way.

Carl Mathias has made a special appeal through the schools to families who may not have had the opportunity to contribute. Contacts in the commercial division also have been expedited.

Pledges may be dropped off at the United Fund office, 2021 Edison Ave., Granite City.

3 Cars Hit McKinley Bridge in Heavy Fog

Three cars struck the railings and superstructure of McKinley Bridge in a seven-hour period Tuesday night and Wednesday morning because of dense fog.

Venice police first were called to the west end of the bridge where the eastbound car of Rowe Urius, St. Louis, struck the south railing, rebounding into the north railing and careened into the south railing again. The front of his car was damaged.

At 11:35 p.m., the eastbound auto of Kenneth John Frank, Arnold, Mo., struck the railing at the east end of the bridge near the railroad spur. Frank told police he fell asleep while driving on the bridge. The front of his car was damaged.

At 1:30 a.m. Wednesday, the eastbound car of Donald R. Coggins, 1238 Robin St., Venice, went out of control and struck the west end of the superstructure, damaging the front end and left side of the auto.

$5.7 Million Budget Cut At SIU-SW Recommended

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIU-SW, said Wednesday he would ask the SI Board of Trustees to approve operating budget request cuts totaling $5.7 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The revised request will total $30.9 million.

Rendleman's announcement followed a conference with the staff of the Illinois Board of Higher Education. The BHE has requested all state universities to submit lists of low priority programs amounting to 15% of the 1971-72 fiscal year budgets.

"We want to cooperate with the Board of Higher Education in any way possible during the current budgetary crisis and we are aware of the difficult circumstances that face us," President Rendleman said.

Using guidelines developed by the BHE, the University had previously proposed a budget request totaling $36,836,000 which was approved by the Board of Trustees at its September meeting.

Rendleman's proposed revisions would reduce the request to $30,900,000. Trustees will meet at the Northwestern campus Nov. 19 and are expected to consider the revised request at that time.

Lists Budget Cuts

The $5.7 million reduction would be achieved by: Eliminating $1.3 million previously requested for projected enrollment gains at SIU-SW.

Fall quarter enrollment this year totaled 12,856, a decline of 6.5% from the 1970 total. Rendleman said the University now is revising enrollment projections in light of the decline and does not anticipate needing the funds originally requested for projected increases.

Eliminating $900,000 in salary increase requests which were to be applied to equity adjustments, bringing certain salaries into line with those paid by area industries. Originally the equity request was proposed as a one-time request which would make all necessary adjustments in a single year and the adjustments over a four-year period.

Reducing physical plant operating and maintenance funds by $549,000.

Dropping a request for $434,000 to cover anticipated price increases on items required by the University. Rendleman said the University would continue to look for economies in all of its operations and would "buy less and maintain less."

Cut Processing Facilities

Cutting $335,000 from funds originally requested for operations of data processing facilities.

Reducing the request for funding for the proposed Ethnic and Special Studies program by $300,000.

Postponing a request for $23,000 for the master of science degree program in urban and environmental studies.

Postponing a request for $27,000 for a doctoral program in education. Rendleman said the national supply of college graduates with doctorates in education now exceeds the demand.

Eliminating $73,000 from the budget of the Exceptional Children Service Center.

Eliminating $48,000 of institutional funding for the Day Care Center.

In addition $1,880,000 would be cut from special requests that were made to supplement the formulas prescribed by BHE in the earlier budget submittal.

CYS Seeks 46 Coats For Needy Students

A minimum of 46 good top coats are needed immediately for local school children who are without heavy winter clothing.

In making the appeal for coats today, C.A. "Bud" MacMillan, executive director of Coordinated Youth Services, said the garments being sought are for boys and girls in a variety of sizes, ranging from 6 to 18.

"We are asking that the coats be in good condition, also in style, so the youngsters receiving the gift will not be ashamed to wear the coat to school," the CYS official noted.

MacMillan said the sudden onset of cold weather brought on the requests for heavy coats and jackets from local schools and related agencies dealing with young people.

"More than 46 garments can be put to good use," the officer said, but the 46 are needed now to enable these students to continue school.

"If a donor will call the CYS Office at 876-2383, I will personally pick up the coat, or the garment may be delivered to the office at 1255 Niedringhaus Ave.," MacMillan said.

Mrs. Bertha Kieselhorst Dies; Former Resident

Mrs. Bertha (Fraundorf) Kieselhorst, 61, formerly of Madison, died at 8 a.m. Tuesday at St. Luke's Hospital in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Kieselhorst was born in St. Louis and lived most of her life in Madison until 1946. She attended Madison schools. A former employee of Shell Oil Co., she moved from Madison to New York where she worked until her retirement in 1968 when she moved to Denver, Colo. She was a member of the Catholic Church.

She is survived by her husband Sidney Kieselhorst, two brothers, Barney Fraundorf, former Madison Police Chief and Madison County Sheriff, and Joseph Wilcox of Florissant, Mo., and one sister, Mrs. George (Edna) Stapleton of Madison.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Appeal Issued for Aid to Fire Victims

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Glenn, whose home and belongings were destroyed in a fire Friday on Route 206 behind the Gateway Truck Stop, sought help today from anyone who has clothing, furniture or other items to donate.

The family escaped only with a pickup truck and the clothes they were wearing as flames consumed their home. They are in their 70's and are now residing in a small building on their property. Mrs. Glenn is a seamstress and says she would be able to alter clothes from size 16½ to 20½ to fit.

Donations may be left at the home of Miss Mary Evanoff, 2400 Grand Ave. Items will be picked up. Contributors may call Miss Evanoff 877-2155, or her brother, Charles Evanoff, at 452-7533.

Youth, 19, Arrested on 5 Charges after Accident

Henry E. Murphy, 19, of Rural Route One, Box 2215, Granite City, was released at 3 p.m. yesterday under recognizance bonds totaling $11,900 and the posting of his driver's license on five charges filed by Ponton Beach police.

Murphy was free on a $30,000 recognizance bond on charges of attempted murder when he was arrested.

Ponton Beach police arrested Murphy at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the 4000 block of Bruene Drive after the auto police said he was driving knocked over four mailboxes, struck a parked car and drove over several lawns. Two young men, 18 and 21, in the car with Murphy were arrested but were released without charges.

Murphy was charged with driving under the influence of liquor or drugs, unlawful possession of a hypodermic syringe, resisting arrest, reckless driving and failure to give information after striking an unattended vehicle.

Police said Murphy was driving eastbound on Bruene Drive when his auto struck the mailboxes at 4037 Bruene, crossed the street and struck the mailboxes at 4037 and 4038 Bruene, crossed the street and struck the mailboxes at 4037 and 4038 Bruene, and then crossed the street again into the lawn of Charles Poole, 4009 Bruene, striking his car which was parked in the driveway. The rear door and center post of Poole's car were damaged.

Police said Murphy's car crossed the road again and came to rest on the lawn at 4068 Bruene Drive. Police said when they arrived at the scene and arrested the three occupants of the car Murphy attempted to flee from the officers. Four officers stopped him and returned him to the auto.

He was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville and arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday. He pleaded innocent to the five charges and was released pending a jury trial. No date has been set.

Murphy has been free on bond on a charge of shooting John Vasiloff, 18, of 2059 Thirteenth St., on the Kroger Shopping Center Sept. 9.

Two Women Injured In Auto Accident

Two women were injured when autos driven by Mrs. Joan P. Snead, 35, of Wood River, and Mrs. Yvonne N. Dressel, 35, of 3548 Terrace Lane, collided at 3 p.m. Wednesday on Nameoki Road at Madison Avenue.

They were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Mrs. Dressel was treated yesterday for cuts to the nose and upper lip and was released. Mrs. Snead, who was charged with making an improper left turn, was transferred to St. Anthony's Hospital, Alton, following treatment for the laceration to the scalp and contusions to the right arm.

Levee Board

a quorum of three members on the normally five-man board to legally conduct the district's business.

It was because of this potential that the levee board, in a meeting at which Campbell was present a week ago, approved two months of district payrolls in advance. At that time Ebersoldt said the action was taken "because we don't know what is going to happen to Morris."

State's Attorney Robert Rice of St. Clair County has challenged legality of that action on grounds that it was tantamount "to approving an emergency in advance."

The levee district had been operating with only four trustees since the death of Joseph Grant of Granite City early in 1968, only a few months after the levee board members were elected to a four-year term.

Convicted in 1970

The four members, Ebersoldt, Campbell, Tolar and George Duff of East St. Louis were convicted in September 1970 on misconduct charges involving the award of a $169,000 repair contract without bidding and performance bond and for paying attorney fees in excess of the statutory limit. They were ordered removed from office, fined $12,500 each and placed on probation for three years. Although Governor Richard B. Ogilvie ordered special elections in which a new five-man board was chosen, none of those board members have taken office because of the appeal by the convicted trustees and a court order putting them to remain in office pending the appeal.

Duff died two months ago, leaving Ebersoldt, Campbell and Tolar on the present board. Campbell was convicted this week on an indictment charging him with cashing two checks of $420 each which he received from the Village of Alorton for rental of levee district equipment.

Denies Theft

Campbell, as a witness in his own defense, denied he had stolen the money. He said he received the checks, cashed them and placed the money in a desk drawer. He said he forgot the money until five or seven months later. The two checks were made out to Campbell rather than the district and were cashed at an East St. Louis supermarket.

Curtis Miller, mayor of Alorton, testified that in March this year, Campbell came to him and left $840, the amount of the checks, which Miller said he deposited in the village account and then in the levee district treasury.

John Kernan, village treasurer, testified, however, that he did not receive the $840 for deposit in the village bank account until last June 29, six months after Campbell was indicted by the grand jury on the theft charges.

Ebersoldt said he may go to Springfield next week to discuss the matter with Governor Ogilvie or his aides. A meeting of the levee board will be held next week, Ebersoldt said, to reapprove the payroll for November. He said John J. Hoban, levee board attorney, has expressed the opinion that Campbell can vote in the meeting since there have been no rulings on post trial motions.

If Campbell were to forfeit his post as a result of his conviction, the governor conceivably could appoint three interim trustees to fill the vacancies on the levee board because there is less than a year of the terms to be served. A new five-

Koenig Awarded National Civil Defense Citation

Victor H. Koenig, Granite City Civil Defense director, has received the "Presidential Citation" from the United States Civil Defense Council (USCDC) for "Unselfish devotion and outstanding contributions to the cause of Civil Defense."

The citation is the second USCDC honor of its kind to be received by Koenig making him one of a select few to twice gain the honor. His previous "Presidential Citation" was awarded in 1967.

The local CDC official was presented the citation by William G. (Bill) Robinson of Baton Rouge, La., retiring USCDC president, at the 20th annual conference of the United States Civil Defense Council at Las Vegas, Nev. Koenig was reappointed national chairman of the USCDC Membership Committee for 1971-72 by Russell E. Pennell Sr. of Columbus, Ohio, newly elected council president.

Koenig held the same national appointment in 1969-70 under the council leadership of Gilbert J. Leonard, Terre Haute, Ind., and last year under Robinson.

The local CDC officer also was re-elected assistant vice-president of Region IV which encompasses the states of Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Additionally, he was named Illinois State Representative to the national council for the sixth consecutive year.

To achieve the distinction of a "Presidential Citation," the candidate nominated must be selected by unanimous approval of all states represented in his specific region. Many regions fail to nominate a candidate for the citation.

Koenig has served as local civil defense director since 1961 and earlier held the positions of assistant director and chief of the Granite City Auxiliary Police Unit. He has worked with the local CD corps for two decades and has held important chairmanships at the regional, state and national levels. Prior to retirement in 1970, Koenig was employed more than 40 years at Granite City Steel Co. He and his wife, Olga, reside at 2338 Sheridan Ave.

Guidelines Set On Wages, Prices In New Phase II

A 5 1/2% ceiling on wage increases which will affect many Quad-Cityans, and a curb on profits by big business were established this week by the federal government as President Nixon's battle against inflation enters the Phase II stage on Sunday.

Exemptions were noted in both the Pay Board's guidelines and the Cost of Living Council rules in the post-freeze economic controls.

The Pay Board's vote was 10 to 5 as members representing the public and business interests combined to outvote labor interests.

The wage standard will be subject to periodic review, the Pay Board announced. Retroactive pay will be granted in a limited number of circumstances if prices were raised by companies in anticipation of wage increases scheduled to occur during the freeze and if wage agreements made after the Aug. 15 freeze succeeded an agreement that had expired before Aug. 16 and retroactive was established practice or had been agreed to by the parties.

The board also said it may approve other retroactive increases to remedy severe inequities.

List Exemptions

Exemptions from price controls will be all used products, including autos, commercial and industrial rents and all existing and many new homes. All retail and wholesale prices will continue to be controlled, the Cost of Living Council outlined.

About half of the total sales and pay increases affecting about 83% of all workers will be subject only to spot government checks for violation of wage-price controls.

The council said 1,300 companies with sales of $100 million and more will be required to report price increases before they go into effect, and pay increases affecting 5,000 workers or more must be reported before they can be paid. It represents about 10% of all workers.

About 1,100 companies with sales of $50 million to $100 million must report price increases on a quarterly basis, and pay increases affecting 1,000 to 5,000 workers must be reported quarterly. It covers about 7% of all workers.

Simon Experienced, Able, Honest—Douglas

He is experienced and able and a man of unquestioned integrity. He has always fought for the people. I am proud to endorse Paul Simon for governor."

dominantly Democratic areas of Granite City, Venice, Alton and Collinsville. The two districts in which no Democratic candidates filed are in strictly rural and predominately Republican areas.

Contests between Democratic candidates in the Feb. 8 primary developed in 18 of the 29 districts, with seven of the contests involving incumbent board members who will oppose each other. Two of the contests in which incumbents will be opponents developed in Districts 19 and 21 in Granite City.

In District 19, incumbent assistant supervisor William Webb is pitted against Ford G. Johnson, also an incumbent county board member. The Democratic race in District 21 is between Carl H. Roach and Carl V. Buehler, both incumbent assistant supervisors of Granite City township.

Three Democratic candidates and one Republican candidate are scheduled as candidates in District 3. Landolt's home district. The Democrats include E. Jack Frandsen of Alhambra who was defeated by Landolt by 12 votes in a bid for the township supervisor post in 1969.

Other candidates for Landolt's board post are Lee J. Spudis, David Gasper, both Democrats and both of Livingston, and Roy E. Halbe, supervisor of Hamel Township, filing as a Republican.

Women's Division Honors Townsend For Assistance

A tree will be planted in his honor next spring at Civic Park, Mrs. Jo Meyer, immediate past president, reported.

The plaque was awarded by Dr. Felicia Koch, charter president, who recalled Townsend's financial help to the Women's Division at the time it was being formed.

Miss Hilda Schroeder, president, conducted the meeting, at which Dr. Albert W. Triant, Chamber president, and other Chamber officers and representatives were guests. C. E. Blankenship, a past president of the Chamber, was praised for his work with the Women's Division.

Warriors to Face Maroons In Final Game of Season

The Granite City High School Football Warriors will travel to Belleville West at 8 p.m. Friday for the final grid battle of the season for GCHS.

The Maroons lead the Southwestern Conference with a 3-0 (won-loss) record and are 8-0 overall. They have racked up 81 points in conference play allowing their competition to score 48.

"We are capable of beating Belleville West, but we are going to have our work cut out for us," Warrior Coach Wayne Williams said.

"We're hurting, with the possibility that Stan Stajduhar will be out of action. He hurt his shoulder in the East St. Louis game, and it is still causing him a lot of pain."

"One bright spot is Jim Robbers, our fullback (62, 195, senior). He has made a world of difference in our offensive game and is doing a great job."

well-balanced offense. They pass and run equally well. This means you can't just stop one attack. You have to stop both.

"Belleville West is like a bunch of vultures. You make one mistake, fumble the ball, anything, and bang, they score on you. We are ready for the game, and the boys want to win, and they can win if they play real tough ball."

The Warriors are 1-3 in the conference and 4-21 overall for the season.

The Warriors have been hampered during the season as a key player, and in some games two and three key players were out of action.

The only game the Warriors had all their players was against Cahokia, which GCHS won 19-6.

The Maroon offense has been averaging 350 yards per game, while their defense has been allowing only 160 to 175 yards.

In the quarterback slot for West will be Gary Mouser, 6-1, 170, junior, brother of Bill Mouser, fullback for Missouri.

Young Mouser has made 105 pass attempts, with 67 completed for 1,085 yards, 14 touchdowns, and had three interceptions.

The West lineup on offense will be: Howard Analla, senior,

In the Maroon backfield with Mouser will be Jim Hill, junior, 5-8, 170, left halfback; Dale Greiman, senior, 5-8, 175, right halfback; and Jay Fields, junior, 6-0, 180, fullback.

Second Year Coach Bruce Arnold is in his second year as head football coach at BW. Last year the Maroons had a 5-5 record, their poorest showing in more than a decade. In 1969 they were 10-1 and then graduated some of their key players.

The future looks bright for the Maroons as their sophomores were undefeated in nine games. Belleville West will wind up its season in the traditional Thanksgiving game against East St. Louis on Nov. 25.

East St. Louis is 3-0 in the conference, scoring 52 points and allowing only 7.

If the Warriors win Friday, they will end up, in all probability, in third place in the conference.

Trojans to Close Season Saturday Against Bethalto

Madison High School's Trojans will close their football season in a home game against the Bethalto Civic Memorial Eagles at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Plagued with injuries, the Eagles had 19 returning lettermen at the beginning of the season but now have only five.

Two all-conference players for Civic Memorial, Terry Moran, a tackle, and Terry Thornton, offensive halfback and defensive linebacker, had knee operations following grid injuries. Last year's quarterback, Keith Hattery, is out of action due to rheumatic fever.

One letterman moved out of town and the other quit the team.

The record for the Eagles is 1-7, with Jerseyville the only team they defeated. Last year the Eagles soared with a 7-2 record.

Fans attending the game will see Bethalto use a multiple offense such as a power I, wing T, proset and split back. The defense is generally a straight 6-2.

Bonnie Hammon, 5-4, 140, junior left halfback, carries the mail for the Eagles.

A sophomore, John Bast, 5-8, 150, who would have been playing running back if Hattery was well, is at the quarterback slot. With them in the backfield, on offense, is Randy Null, 5-4, 135, junior, at right half and Bill Robinson, 5-10, 180, senior, at fullback.

The offensive line for the Eagles will be Terry Fene, 6-2, 160, sophomore; Rick Sauls, 6-5, 165, sophomore, left tackle; Bud Rogers, 5-11, 175, junior, left guard; Steve Patton, 6-0, 185, senior, center; Don Walker, 5-3, 140, senior, right guard; Mike Trimm, 6-3, 185, senior, right tackle; and Gary Brunning, 6-3, 180, junior, right end.

Most of the Eagles also play defense, but a few new players take the field as Bob Meyers, 6-2, 180, senior, left end; Taylor, 6-0, 200, senior, left guard; Tony Wahl, 6-3, 175, junior, right end; Harold Hoppner, 6-1, 160, sophomore, line backer; and Steve Smith, 5-5, sophomore, defensive back.

"I scouted Bethalto when they lost to Mascoutah 19-8," Coach Al Vander Haar said. "They are on the average bigger than we are, and they seemed to be making a lot of mental errors due to the young club they are forced to field, which is a similar situation I have."

"Physically we are great and have had no injuries. We just have a young club. In fact last week I had to play two freshmen. I think our key players are a little better than theirs, but that will remain to be seen."

The Trojans have a 2-6 record.

Parents of players will be honored at the game. They will be in special seats and will receive photos of their sons.

Battered Cougars to Host South Florida

Bruised, battered but unbowed, the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern soccer team held a light workout Monday following its 2-1 loss to St. Louis University Saturday at Musial Field before 8,000 frenzied fans. The Cougars will play the University of South Florida in their final home game Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

For Coach Bob Guelker's kickers it was a bitter disappointment losing again to the No. 1 Bills after leading with just seven minutes remaining on the clock in the bitterly fought game. It was almost an exact replay of last year's Midwest NCAA regional tournament. In that one, the Bills rallied after being down, 1-0, for 80 minutes and pulled the victory out with two goals in the final eight minutes.

South Florida, ranked No. 3 in the southern region and 17th in the nation, has a 7-1-1 record. Its only loss is a 4-1 setback at the hands of St. Louis University two weeks ago.

In Saturday's shoot-out against St. Louis, the Cougars, after a slow first eight minutes, began to dominate the game and scored first at 10:25.

The second period on a "header" shot by John Carezza following a beautiful over-the-head kick pass from Tom Twellman.

It was an extremely rough battle. On the opening play, St. Louis University's defensive star, Bob Matteson, blasted the Cougars' little play-maker, John

"Dino" Delinowski, leaving him sprawling. Less than 10 seconds later, Vince Fassl, defensive stalwart of SIU-SW, clobbered Matteson and the tempo of the game was set.

SIU continued to dominate the game throughout the third period, but in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter it appeared that the Cougars were content to settle for a 1-0 victory and the momentum went over to the Bills. At 14:47 into the fourth quarter, sophomore Dan Counce pounced on a loose ball about 30 yards in front of the SIU-SW goal and zipped it past Rick Benben. At 17:03, Mike Seery shot another one from 45 yards out and it caught Benben well out of the net for the winning goal.

"We played well enough to win, but didn't get that break that it takes when two teams are as evenly matched as SIU-SW and St. Louis are," Guelker said, grimacing wryly, he added, "We just might get that break against them in the Midwest NCAA tournament final."

The winner of the Midwest NCAA final will be one of four teams to battle it out for the national championship Dec. 28, 30 at the Orange Bowl in Miami. St. Louis will be seeking its third straight national title.

"I'm very proud of my kids," he knew that they're as good as the best," Guelker said.

Around Nov. 20, Guelker and about 3,500 SIU-SW students who braved Saturday's cold and blustery winds will find out.

31 Students Uninjured In Fogbound Accident

Thirty-one students escaped injury when their school bus was involved in an accident with two autos in the fog at 8:05 a.m. Wednesday on the old Chain of Rocks Bridge which was icy.

The bus, driven by Maggie L. Rigaby, 4010 Braden Ave., had stopped as the road was blocked by an earlier traffic accident. A car driven by Tracy H. Kinkade, St. Louis, stopped behind it. An auto driven by Terrence P. Baker, 19, of 2215 E. 24th St., was unable to come to a halt, struck the Kinkade auto and shoved it into the bus.

Baker suffered minor injuries and was to be treated by his physician.

MORE ABOUT Township

Record that he has no record of appointment of any of the Long Lake trustees after the term expiration dates shown in her letter. She said her records also fail to show the posting of new bonds which would have been filed by the trustees had they been reappointed.

Nick Vassileff, attorney for the fire protection district, said he was unable to explain the fact that new appointments were made under the terms expired, but that "in any case it is a principle of law that officers remain in their posts until a successor is appointed."

Commends Present Board
Vassileff commended the present board. "These fellows have done a tremendous job and given the people an efficient, well-organized fire-fighting service," Vassileff remarked.

The switch in authority over the Long Lake fire department came at a time when the old board of trustees and the Nameoki town board are at odds over a township request for installation of additional fire hydrants in the more heavily populated areas of Nameoki township.

The request to install additional hydrants followed an annexation election in which the residential area of Nameoki township was voted into the fire district. Whittell maintained that the taxes paid by the fire district newcomers entitled them to better protection which could be made possible only through available water supply.

The Fire district board considered the cost was too great and the request was bypassed in authorization of a study of the situation.

Approximately 45 persons attended the town board meeting Monday night in which Highway Commissioner Albert Bell announced he has written District Highway Engineer Robert Kromer at Fairview Heights for a permit to install traffic signals at Mayville and Kretnor schools.

Will Maintain Signals
Bell announced also that he has been notified by B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools in Granite City District 9, that the school district will take over maintenance of the lights after they are installed.

A resolution designating all of Nameoki township as an urban area was adopted by the board. The action will qualify residents of certain areas of the township for fire insurance under the Fair Insurance Plan.

The board also approved a resolution endorsing a site at Route 111 and State Aid Route 35 as the location of a new state office building now proposed for construction in East St. Louis. The land has been offered free to the state by William Nichols, owner of the land. The resolution is to be sent to Governor Richard B. Ogilvie.

The board met Monday night in a room redecorated with new draperies which were tailored and donated by Mrs. R. J. Ropac Interior Decorators, 3305 Valley Lane.

Surprise Party Honors Local Man
Anthony Podnar, 1232 Grand Ave., was honored at a surprise birthday party given during the weekend by his wife, who was assisted in arranging the affair by John Tarras and Tom Gushleff.

Mrs. Podnar presented each of the women guests with a corsage of "mums made by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeMond. The couple who are florists in Bessemer, Ala., arrived by plane for the celebration.

Future of Bus Service Faces Major Problems

Bus transportation to the Quad-City area and the St. Louis metropolitan area may be in jeopardy if formidable legal and financial problems are not overcome within one year, transportation officials predicted this week.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, which has been offered the bus system operated by the Bi-State Transit System, said it would be unable to accept the offer unless the entire corporate structure of the council legally was changed.

An attorney for the Gateway Council said it was established as a non-profit planning and advisory board. He indicated the legal change necessary to allow it to run a bus system would be extensive but possible, if the council should vote to accept the offer by the Bi-State Development Agency, parent body of the transit system.

The bus line showed a deficit of $1,378,228 as of Sept. 30 and Bi-State offered the system to the council free if they would accept the responsibility for $23,263,827 in revenue bonds and the operating deficit.

"No matter who runs the bus system, they will need a subsidy, probably within a year, to keep operating at the present level," Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Bi-State director, said Tuesday.

GC Kickers Remain Unbeaten, Down Kahoks in 4-0 Battle

As the Kahoks of Collinsville fell 4-0 to the Warrior soccer team here Tuesday afternoon, the Granite City High School kickers passed the halfway point of their season still undefeated.

The victory was the 11th consecutive for the varsity squad, and the junior varsity team brought its record to three wins and one loss by downing the Kahoks 2-0 in the double-header and by defeating St. Dominic's of O'Fallon, Mo., 3-0 here yesterday.

Carl Dake earned three of the four goals in the varsity match while Jim Forrester blasted a successful penalty kick in the last minute of the game.

The cold weather had its effect on both teams as play was sluggish in the first half. The Warriors made a few attempts at the goal but all were unsuccessful until seven minutes from the half-time whistle, Jerry Duncan passed from the left to Dake on the right end and Dake had an open line to the net.

In the second period the action remained slow until Randy Worthen gave Dake a short pass at 18 minutes into the period and Dake outmaneuvered the defense for the Warriors' second score.

The third point was earned as Jim Conway held the ball at the far left side of the field until all defenders had been drawn to that side, and then passed to Dake at the right side of the goal.

Forrester's penalty kick moments before the final whistle rounded out the scoring. The Warriors made 45 attempts on goal during the hour of play while allowing the Collinsville team only five shots.

The junior varsity team set up goals by Dennis Jones and Ted Geggus for a 2-0 win against the Kahoks.

Geggus, a sophomore, was the first to score against St. Dominic's yesterday. His point was matched by Andy Baugh. Phil Hill booted the final goal.

The Warriors will meet St. Henry's at Belleville today and will travel to Tower Grove Park, St. Louis, for a 4 p.m. game tomorrow with Southwest St. Louis High School.

A four-game week is planned starting Monday as St. Henry's travels here, followed by Assumption here Tuesday. The Granite City squad will meet at St. Louis Wednesday to meet St. John's, and the team will be at Whitefield Friday in St. Louis. All games are slated for 4 p.m.

Concert to Aid Music Scholarship Program

The celebrated pianist Ruth Slenczynska will be featured in a benefit concert with the Southern Illinois University Orchestra at SIU-SW Nov. 19 at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater. Admission is $2, with proceeds going to the music scholarship fund.

Under the direction of Robert Schieber, the SIU-SW orchestra will open with the Overture to Manfred by Schumann. This will be followed by Chopin's 24 Preludes, Opus 28, featuring Miss Slenczynska. The orchestra will close its concert by playing Schumann's Concerto in A minor for Piano and Orchestra.

When Miss Slenczynska played the Chopin Preludes last month at the First Presbyterian Church of Kirkwood, a music critic wrote, "They (the Preludes) contain in 40 minutes or so everything that the piano can say: they expose every strength and weakness of a person who plays them."

"One who plays them as Miss Slenczynska did is an artist in mind, heart and fingertips. . . . It was a performance that brought the Preludes together on one great canvas, a coherent masterpiece."

"It is one of the symptoms of our time that such a performance should wait so long to be heard in St. Louis—Miss Slenczynska has been at SIU-SW for seven years—and that its host should be a suburban church."

Praise is not new to Miss Slenczynska. The piano virtuoso, who made her European debut at age five, was described by the New York Times as "the greatest child prodigy of the 20th century and the greatest keyboard genius since Mozart" following her Town Hall performance at age eight.

An Indianapolis News music critic described her as "second to none" after her performance last month in the Hoosier capital.

Miss Slenczynska holds the Polish Golden Cross of Merit and is a fellow in the International Academy of Arts and Letters at Geneva, Switzerland. She also is a recipient of the

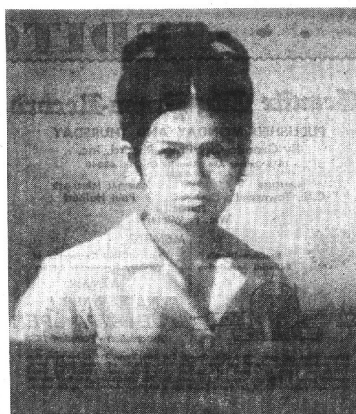

RUTH SLENCZYNSKA

Baldwin Piano Company's Artist of the Year Award.

Tickets for the Nov. 19 concert can be purchased in advance at the information desk in the University Center or the music office in Room 0160 of the Communications Building.

Checks are to be made payable to the SIU Foundations. Contributions to the music scholarship fund of more than $2 per ticket are tax deductible.

Do People Appreciate 'The System' And the Good Life It Produces?

By WILLIAM F. WINTER Editor

"B-A-I-K" were the letters on a pin once seen on the lapel of the late U. S. Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, the audience was told at Airside 1971 during his St. Louis stop.

When it concludes its three weeks of travel on Friday, Nov. 12, at Cleveland, the Airside group will have visited a total of 15 different cities across the nation.

Sponsor of the annual series is the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. and participants this year included Archie K. Davis, president. He resides in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Purpose is to bring the national leaders in contact with members throughout the country. And the goal, as admitted in the title of the meeting, is to develop "a business strategy for the 70s."

"It is a tiring task to take part in meetings only a day apart, and thousands of miles away, but business currently feels itself 'under the gun,' being blamed for nearly all the ills of mankind. It is trying to 'set the record straight,' as it sees the record.

There are other viewpoints, of course, but it may be of interest to discuss today how business sees the current national situation.

The "B-A-I-K" lettering on the U. S. Senate minority leader's lapel was reported by Matt Evans, keynote speaker for Airside, who also is chairman of the U. S. Bicentennial Commission. The commission currently is planning a 200th birthday party for the nation in 1976.

Giving a good imitation of the late Mr. Dirksen's distinctive speaking voice, Evans answered a question by saying that B-A-I-K stands for "Boy, am I confused."

Told that "confused" starts with a "C" rather than a "K," Evans (Sen. Dirksen) replied, "You don't know how confused I am!"

Any joke loses something in the retelling. "You had to be there to really enjoy it," he says. But it is mentioned because it to some extent sums up the present outlook: "Boy, is business confused! And confused about how to improve its public image."

Arch N. Booth, executive vice-president of the U. S. Chamber, puts it this way:

"Business is under attack. You no doubt know this. What you may not know is that this attack, which initially came from individuals, is now organized."

"It is growing in intensity and leading to harassment and persecution which threaten to undermine the basic foundations of the competitive market system."

"The attack is not confined to big companies. It is against all industry, large and small, and all types of business — and even the professions."

"The aim seems to be to alienate the worker, stockholder and the public from private enterprise — and to make the consumer feel that he is being neglected, and that new products are deliberately manufactured in an inferior fashion."

"The attack portrays business as greedy and uncaring — and corporations as unresponsive to consumer complaints."

"If this attack succeeds, the forces of private enterprise will wreck a system that has done more than any other in the world to meet the needs of the people."

Continuing his analysis, Booth says that "complaint and discontent arises from three broad areas:

"1. The continuing problem of inflation. People feel they are not getting value for their money."

"2. The environmental crusade. The thought is that pollution comes out of factories — owned by business."

"3. The wave of consumerism. Some consumer complaints are valid, but too many of them are irresponsible and contribute to an atmosphere of suspicion and distrust toward business."

"The organized critics of business work these three fields to the limit. They are sophisticated in using the law and the political processes to gain their ends."

"For some reason, the most disquieting voices come from perfectly respectable elements of society: The college campus, the pulpit, intellectual and literary journals and politicians."

"In most of these groups, the participation is only by individuals. Yet, they are often the most articulate and eloquent in their writing and speaking."

"What's the answer? The overriding need, as I see it, is for the thinking people of the country to recognize that the ultimate issue may be survival of the private enterprise system, and all that it means to the strength and prosperity of the nation."

"There is need for a better understanding of what is back of the criticisms. And there is need to ensure that all sides in the controversy get a fair hearing."

"There is need for constructive self-examination on the part of business to determine whether there may be some soundness in the criticisms. And if so, make the required improvements."

"American industry is based on integrity, on quality of goods, fair dealing and long-range good will. Not on knavery."

"We must create a spirit of mutual confidence between business and consumers."

"America can solve almost any of its problems, it can keep its immensely productive economic system in good working order. But if damage is brought to this marvelous machine, we are in deep trouble."

As the Airside was drawing to a close, the Chamber, a federation of 2,700 regional Chambers of Commerce and American Chambers abroad, more than 1,100 trade and professional associations, and more than 30,000 firms and individuals with an overall membership of more than five million, this week are launching a national campaign to promote better understanding of the competitive enterprise system.

A public service message first in a series to be released every ten weeks, depicts a career character who doesn't want to be involved with "The System."

An announcer explains that a system is necessary for man to survive and prosper and that there is no way to run it. He then introduces Booth.

Booth points out that private enterprise is providing history's highest standard of living and has a built-in means of change where change is called for.

A later release will explain that the consumer is determining what is produced. Another tells why profits are desirable in America as a spur to productivity and inventiveness.

About Nov. 15, the U. S. Chamber will send additional releases of the same theme to other outlets. These also will feature Booth, in this case defending private enterprise against a crowd of protesters.

The messages will offer further information without charge to those who write in.

The Chamber also is seeking to fairly appreciate of private enterprise in other ways as part of a concerted, continuing effort, included are:

College and high school Business Symposia. All day forums in which students are guests of businessmen, who answer questions and exchange ideas.

Understanding Economics — A 10-booklet reading and discussion series on such topics as: gold, silver, and the dollar; business; money; income, the power of choice and international trade.

Action Course in Practical Politics — A "nuts and bolts" discussion series leading to better understanding of how to be effective politically, tying into private enterprise as part of the American "system."

Decisions for the 70's — Another reading and discussion series of booklets covering such areas as national goals, environment and population growth, unemployment and inflation, the guaranteed income and tax reform. Contemporary ideas by authorities are presented from a variety of contrasting viewpoints.

Speeches, by-line articles, radio-TV interviews — By top Chamber executives explaining the private enterprise system.

Films — Depicting the system. Some dating back a few years but still timely, and others in planning and production stages.

Executive Vice-President Booth terms the campaign of economic education essential:

"Business and professional people know there is no system in the world which can approach competitive enterprise for giving people a better life and wide-open opportunity. It's time every citizen knew and appreciated its workings."

Travel by Red Leaders Cannot Erase Memory Of 1956 and 1968 in the Balkan Satellites

Efforts by Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev to convince Yugoslavs that they have nothing to fear from the "Brezhnev Doctrine" are probably as transparent in Belgrade as they would be in Budapest or Prague. Deeds speak louder than words, and history is the best refutation of the claim that fears of Soviet invasion of Balkan satellites are based on "fairy tales."

Those were not fairy-tale tanks that crushed the spirit of independence in Hungary in 1956 and in Czechoslovakia in 1968. Romanians now testing the limits of their autonomy are not threatened by imaginary ogres but by the armed forces of the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev's fence-mending visit to Yugoslavia and a flurry of travel by other Soviet leaders to offset new diplomatic initiatives by the Chinese Communists demonstrate how difficult it is to hold and maintain a political union among Red countries.

Communism is monolithic enough as a doctrine. Its adherents are slaves in common of Marxist-Leninist dogma. They must continually distort reality to make it conform to that dogma, no matter how much the dogma is proven wrong by the success of private enterprise in meeting the social and economic challenges of the modern world.

Soviet Communists have learned that this common ideology is not enough to assure political unity within their bloc without the use of force and subversion.

Marxist doctrine alone has been unable to bridge historic rivalries between Russia and China on the Asian land mass. Only through the concept of "limited sovereignty" for socialist nations, as set forth in the Brezhnev Doctrine, can the Soviet Union hope to create a socialist world as monolithic as the socialist doctrine itself.

Marshal Tito has sought to make a distinction between Communism as a model for national government and Communism as the object of surrender to Moscow of a nation's political future. He has succeeded, up to now.

The guarded reception given to the sweet-talking Brezhnev in Yugoslavia indicates that the aging Tito is as wary as ever of the Soviet "Treat and wait" tactic for the future of his country after he is gone.

The truth that haunts the Kremlin is that Communist party leaders in satellite countries, no matter how devoted to Marxist ideology, may still regard themselves as Germans, Poles, Czechs or Romanians first and as Communists second.

The depth of the purge that followed the overthrow of Alexander Dubcek in Czechoslovakia shows the extent to which liberalism and nationalism can infect the leadership of a Communist party.

Slatemakers To Talk After Thanksgiving

By JERRY OWENS
Copy News Service

Springfield—Democratic state slatemarkers will meet soon after Thanksgiving to endorse a slate of candidates for state office in 1972.

Statewide offices at stake are U. S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and comptroller (now auditor).

It is traditional for ticket-makers to meet first in Springfield and then in Chicago.

After the Chicago session, a sub-committee meets to recommend a slate, which is then ratified by the full committee at a subsequent meeting.

At slatemaking sessions, prospective candidates appear before party leaders to state their backgrounds, qualifications and reasons for wanting state office.

The primary is next March, and law requires nominating petitions to be filed between 89 and 92 days prior to the primary. This puts the filing period this year between Dec. 13-20.

In 1969, ahead of the state's first March primary, Democratic slatemarkers formally endorsed a 1970 ticket on Tuesday, Nov. 25. They met the week before in Springfield and finished their work early the next week in Chicago.

As a rule, a ticket is finalized about 10 days before the initial filing day, which puts announcement time this year shortly after the first of December.

There has been some speculation, based largely on Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's hard-to-interpret hints, that the party may opt for an "open" primary, where no endorsements are made, rather than endorse candidates to be officially backed by the organization in the primary. Few astute political observers, however, believe there will be no slate chosen.

The slatemaking committee consists of the 24 state central committeemen, leading elected officials, officials of the county chairmen's organization and other top party officials.

Though Daley has the largest say, the others can and have influenced candidate selection. For example, in 1968, Daley was unable to convince slatemaking colleagues to endorse Adlai Stevenson for senator. And in 1969, Dr. Michael Bakalis was picked for school superintendent because he impressed the committee, not because of the mayor's role.

Republicans made much of the Democrats' "closed" primary and slatemaking system until they elected a strong leader of their own in 1968, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Now, Ogilvie calls many of the shots, as witnessed by the state GOP organizations' endorsement of a slate for 1970.

The Republicans are expected to endorse a slate again for next year. In fact, the Cook County Republican organization, dominated by Ogilvie, has already endorsed the governor, U. S. Sen. Charles Percy and Attorney General William Scott for re-election.

Miss Start spoke on the role of the modern American wife-mother, worker and volunteer and touched on numerous anecdotes published in her column. She also discussed her book, "Never Underestimate The Little Women."

Mrs. Alice Allen, the November program chairman, co-ordinated the entertainment with Mrs. Wilma Tongay, general program chairman for 1971-72.

After prayer and dinner, the business meeting was conducted and reports from officers discussed. Plans were made for a Christmas program and members agreed to draw names for a gift exchange.

Prizes for the evening went to Mrs. Bobbie Sykes and Mrs. Rita Mahurin.

Concert Dates Set for GC Band

Louis Meek, band director and music consultant at Granite City High School, announced the band schedule for the 1971-72 season, at a meeting of the Granite City High School Band Parents Association held Tuesday night in the band room at school.

Miss Joanne Graklanoff Bride of W. J. Waymire

Miss Joanne Graklanoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Graklanoff, 42 Villa Drive, became the bride of William Joseph Waymire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waymire, 171 Seventh St., Wood River, in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Edward Groesch of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church on the evening of November 5.

Sister Marilyn Therese, organist, provided the traditional wedding music for the 7 p.m. nuptial mass.

The church was decorated with altar bouquets of gladioli and greenery. Friends and relatives of the young couple were escorted by the ushers, Dave Jones and William Cornell.

Preceding the bride down the white carpeted aisle were her sisters, Miss Linda Lee Graklanoff, bridesmaid, and Miss Jeanne Marie Graklanoff, maid of honor. They were followed by the bride in a white gown with a wide red sash and a white wide satin belt.

The bridesmaids wore pale pink chiffon over tulle dresses with a tiny ruffled stand-up collar. A soft ruffle at the center of the bodice was accented with red velvet buttons and long chiffon sleeves gathered at the wrist, ended in a ruffled cuff.

Ruby-red velvet bows adorned their heads and both bridesmaids carried a single-stemmed pink rose tied with pale pink satin streamers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of pure white sateau featuring an Empire bodice with heavy Venice lace and a high stand-up collar. Venice lace traced the cuffs of the long lantern sleeves.

The full sweep detachable train was bordered with lace and attached at the back with a self fabric bow. A bridal veil of illusion was secured with a tiara of pearls and iridescent sequins and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

James Waymire was best man and for his brother and John Waymire, another brother, served as groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Graklanoff chose a deep gold polyester dress with brown accessories. Mrs. Waymire, also attired in a gold polyester dress, wore black accessories. Both mothers wore yellow carnation corsages. The couple's four grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

About 300 guests attended a reception held in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wood River immediately following the ceremony. Miss Diane Parente, a cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

While the groom is home on leave from the United States Army, the young newlyweds will reside with his parents. After the serviceman departs for Fort Lewis, Wash., to await assignment to Korea, Mrs. Waymire will reside with her parents.

The groom is a graduate of the Granite City High School and the bride graduated from Granite City High School. Both young people attended Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus.

The former Miss Graklanoff is employed with the Internal Revenue Service in St. Louis.

Mrs. Leo A. Roman, 3213 Colgate Ave., was hostess to the Cloverview Garden Club Tuesday at the Sunset Hills Holiday Inn, Edwardsville. There will be a gift exchange and it was voted to send a basket of fruit to the patients at a nursing home as part of the Fruit and Flower Guild project.

chairman, Mrs. Arvid Nelson of Lebanon, were distributed. An invitation was read from the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club to attend the 50th Anniversary celebration at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Granite City Army Installation.

Continuing with the current objective of the local garden group which involves making a comprehensive study of bulbs at each monthly meeting, the afternoon's discussion was centered on "buying bulbs." The program by Mrs. John Lentz on "Disease and Insects of Bulbs" was taken from the book "How to Grow Bulbs" by the editors of Sunset and Sunset Books.

Members attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were Mrs. Robert McCauley, Mrs. Fred Orr and Mrs. William Bradley.

WINTER CARNIVAL IS PLANNED AT MARSHALL

Final details for a winter school carnival were discussed at the November executive board meeting of the Marshall PTA Tuesday evening. President Bill Schreiber presided and reports were given by the officers.

The carnival will feature games, a cake walk, other attractions and food. The annual event is set for Feb. 11 in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Marilyn Smith announced that tickets are still available for a radio show. Bob Kirgan, treasurer of the Area PTA Council, requested that each PTA unit send representatives to a budgeting and bylaws session sponsored by the Area PTA.

A Nov. 18 Area PTA meeting at Wilson School will feature a program on "Child Protection and Child Abuse."

Schreiber gave a treasury report and announced that total membership thus far is 90. Other officers present were Mrs. Ann Osburn, Mrs. Mary Havron, Mrs. Nancy Wickham and Mrs. Sue Reading.

The Marshall PTA will meet Nov. 16.

TRPOO LEARNS FIRST-AID

First-aid cards were earned by Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop 62 as they met with the leaders, Mrs. Doris Wood and Mrs. Pat Rigney, at St. Joseph's School Tuesday evening. The scouts gave a "thank you" party for their instructor, Mrs. Opal Davis.

Mrs. Davis has instructed the scouts in basic first-aid for six weeks and scouts completing the course were Tammy Edwards, Deanna DeRossetti, Lois McClelland, Dawn Wood, Deborah, Margaret Clark, Pat Perdue, Vicki Pieper, Starr Condis and Karol Lee.

The Cadettes made cookies and refreshments and Mrs. Davis was presented with a gift.

MRS. YETTER ENTERTAINS Mrs. Joan Yetter, 2420 Edison Ave., entertained the Once-A-Month Card Club in her home Tuesday evening for a monthly gathering and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Donna Kagy and Mrs. Helen Schwendemann, high score and Mrs. Cora Cuppedge and Mrs. Joyce Bug, low score.

Names were chosen for a Christmas party and gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Bugg, 2720 Dale Ave., Dec. 7. The hostess served refreshments to those mentioned and Mrs. Sharon Shafer.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS PLAN HOLIDAY EVENTS

The November meeting of Neighborhood Three Girl Scout Leaders was held Tuesday at St. John's United Church of Christ and plans were made for the annual festival of giving and for the leaders' Christmas party.

Mrs. Vivian Davis explained a flag ceremony in troop meetings and a more formal ceremony for various occasions. Mrs. Davis was caller. Other leaders participating in the opening ceremony were flag bearers, Mrs. Pat McKee and Mrs. Barbara Walker, and color guards, Mrs. Rosemarie Ortiz and Miss Linda Polette.

Mrs. Doris Stotz, chairman, presented five-year pins to Mrs. Mae Lee and Mrs. Ruth Schreiber and a 20-year pin to Mrs. Judy Stille. The chairman gave reports on an arts and crafts session which the neighborhood hosted, and on the annual recognition dinner held last month.

She also reported that a campership fund, in memory of registered scouts in District 4, had been presented to the River Bluffs Council president, Mrs. Billi Laumbattus, at the recognition dinner.

The leaders Christmas party will be held Dec. 9 at Camp Lakota. Chairman are Mrs. Eva Arbogast and Mrs. Pat Eaton. Reservations must be made by Dec. 1. Cost is 75 cents and each scout will be assigned a covered dish menu: Webster, meat; Marshall, salad; Niedringhaus, vegetables; and Sacred Heart, dessert. The leaders also voted to bring a child's toy instead of the usual gift exchange. These will be donated to needy families in the Quad-City area. A white elephant gift will be needed for the entertainment hour.

Mrs. Lee displayed a covered basket and explained various food articles that troops may bring for the festival of giving Dec. 12 at Namoki school from 1-3 p.m. Senior Troop 1177 will coordinate the annual event. Advisor for the seniors is Mrs. Joan Oram. Troops who plan to entertain on the "Foreign Christmas" programs are to contact Mrs. Oram this week.

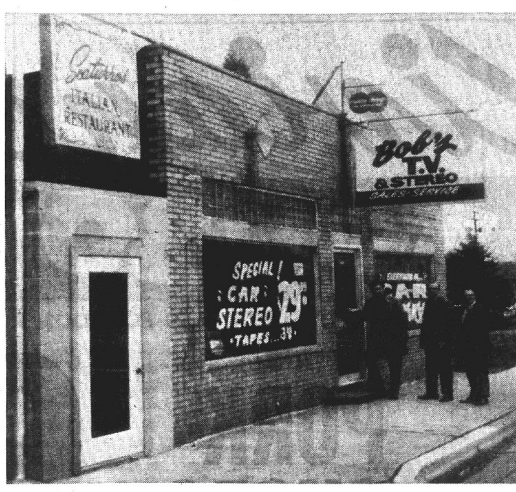

Mrs. Stotz spoke on a scout's responsibility to her sponsor and what sponsors can do for the troops. Plans were discussed for a song, game and dance workshop and for a swimming course later this year. Due to the holiday festivities, there will be no December or January association meetings.

Chairmen were assigned to several district and neighborhood events. Mrs. Davis will conduct a two-part training session on "Preparation for Level Advancement." Details will be announced later.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by the Webster school leaders to those mentioned and Mesdames Gloria Joyce, Jo Stephens, Mary Havron, Mary Frintzko, Betty Van Gilder, Carmen Grider, Barbara Blackburn.

Many Juvenile Programs Do as Much Harm as Good--Rendleman

Juvenile corrections programs have not yet reached the stage where they are helping young people more than inflicting damage, Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIU-SW, said Monday at Hot Springs, Ark., at a national symposium on alternatives to incarceration of youth.

"I believe we need a revolution in the way people feel and think about crime," the university president said in the conference's keynote address. He urged use of institutionalization only as a last resort and said it should be imposed upon a limited population.

"Despite the seriousness of the problem today, significant reduction in crime is possible, he said.

Rendleman challenged widespread use of juvenile detention shelters as a panacea for youth with problems, particularly in the case of homeless youngsters who have no place to go.

"Unfortunately, 'no place to go' is better than the 'institution in many cases,' he said.

"It is inhumane to expose youngsters needlessly to the degradation that accompanies institutionalization. It is inhumane to place the child in an atmosphere in which delinquent skills are likely to be learned. And as long as we continue to accommodate these kinds of youngsters, the community will provide little in the way of suitable alternatives," Dr. Rendleman said.

The SIU-SW president called for treatment of children with emotional problems through psychiatric services as an alternative to incarceration.

He also urged development of youth services programs to help young people with a wide variety of problems, including provision for foster care and group homes, and use of volunteers in human service.

"We stand at the threshold of implementing a new program that are limited only by our imagination. We must not look ourselves to systems of failure. "We need only to look at the growing crime problems in our cities and communities to know that we have not dealt effectively with the problem," Rendleman said.

The local university includes a center dedicated exclusively to the study of the problems of delinquency, youth development and programs for the delivery of human services. The center works at state, regional and national levels.

"We will continue to generate research, provide training and develop professional competencies that will assist in implementing community alternatives for youth," the president pledged.

The conference, which continued through Wednesday, was co-sponsored by the Delinquency Study and Development Center

Polio Virus Still Around; Vaccine Program Working

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD—Some strains of polio are still around in Illinois, though no clinical cases of the once-dreaded disease have been reported in the state all of last year, or this year to date.

Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said the polio virus type two was isolated in two patients in the Chicago area this fall, but neither patient actually developed the disease. One of the two cases was found in August and the other in September.

"All of us carry around things capable of causing disease, but which don't develop into disease," Dr. Yoder said. "The important thing about finding these cases is that they indicate the virus is still around, but that the vaccine program is obviously working."

Polio vaccine, given orally in the big majority of the cases, is one of the immunizations required for all children in Illinois. Current practice, Dr. Yoder said, is to give the vaccine with the earliest immunizations, often between six weeks and two months of age.

Three types of polio virus have been identified, Dr. Yoder said, but the polio vaccine now in use is effective against all three.

In 1952, Illinois hit its peak year with 4,002 cases of polio reported.

The decline in cases began after 1955 when Dr. Jonas Salk discovered a vaccine administered by injection, using a dead polio virus base.

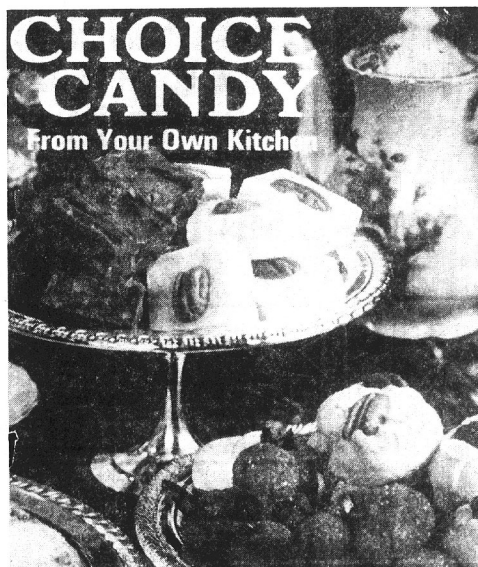

The Sabin vaccine, which is easily administered by mouth, often on a sugar cube or a piece of bread, has the added advantage that it provides continuing immunity for long periods of time.

Gestures as Important as Words, SIU-SW Educator Tells Chapter

"Non-Verbal Communication" was the topic of a program presented by Professor Thomas Herthel, instructor at SIU-SW who recently moved to this area from New York, at a meeting conducted locally of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association. The event was held in the Granada Room at the Granite City Army Installation, for his sixth birthday.

Professor Herthel said, "Non-verbal communication is not limited to the theatre, but is an important part of everyday living. It encompasses everything but actual words, such as sound, movement and gestures."

It is not the actual words a person says, the educator stressed, but the way they are delivered that is important. A gesture does not have to come just from the hands; it can come from any part of the body, he noted.

Following his presentation a spirited discussion took place relating to the musical "Hair." Professor Herthel defended the play and several members of the chapter who had seen a performance spoke out against it.

Miss Twilla Edmonds, president, welcomed two guests, Mrs. Mary Sedekum and Mrs. Shirley Henderson, both of whom are charter members of the local chapter.

Miss Edmonds also reported on the Great Lakes District Conference held in Indianapolis, which she and Mrs. Sailey Gracely attended. Over 500 NSA members were at the conference, she said.

Mrs. Charlene Vunovic, chairman of the Future Secretaries Association Committee, described activities of the Granite City High School FSA Chapter, including an outline of their latest meeting, which featured a well-known registered parliamentarian, Miss Marguerite Grumme, and a visit to the Alpha Ilihi FSA Chapter in Roxana by 12 local members. The GCHS group was accompanied by faculty advisor, Mrs. Judi Sparks, and Mrs. Vunovic.

Miss Sandra Green and Glen Johnson Are Wed

Miss Sandra Green and Glen Johnson exchanged wedding vows at the Eden United Church of Christ, Edwardsville, Oct. 29, before an altar decorated with arrangements of white Fuji mums accented with smaller mums in blue, green and purple and sprigs of natural wheat.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Loyd of Route 7, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, and the late Ernest R. Green. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Verneda Johnson of Rosewood Heights, Alton and the late Orville Johnson.

The Rev. Glenn E. Davis, pastor of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, Bluff Road, officiated at the 7:30 p.m. candlelight double ring ceremony. Kenny Byens, soloist, sang "More," "I'll Walk With God" and "With These Hands," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Elvira Schaefer.

For her wedding, the bride designed her own gown in an Empire style. Fashioned of peau de soie, the gown had a polyester chiffon overskirt extended in length to form the full sweep train. Fine Chantilly lace accented the high neckline, bodice and the cuffs of the long full sleeves, and lace was repeated along the hemline. A cathedral length veil of imported illusion, trimmed with lace, was secured with an orange blossom headpiece. She carried a crescent bouquet of carnations, and stephanotis accented with small blue carnations and baby breath.

The former Miss Green wore a lavalliere belonging to her grandmother and previously worn by her mother and sister.

Mrs. Janet Perry, a sister of the bride, served as matron of honor with Miss Deborah Green and Miss Carole Williamson, bridesmaids. They were attired in ivory crepe Empire gowns with skirts of navy blue, jade green and purple, respectively. Delicately tinted carnations, entwined with baby breath, were worn as headpieces and each attendant carried a small white Bible.

Wayne Johnson, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Greg Neal and Raymond Whitlock. Guests were seated by Roger Weil and Fred Littleton.

Mrs. Loyd, mother of the bride, wore a dress of rust, olive and ivory polyester screen print and a rust colored 'mum corsage. The groom's mother selected a knit dress in blue. Her flowers were blue 'mums.

Following the service, guests were received in the Eden Church Fellowship Hall.

The former Miss Green is a 1968 graduate of Edwardsville High School and received her associate business degree from SIU-SW in September 1970. Until her marriage, she was attending SIU where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Mu Sorority.

Mr. Johnson graduated in 1964 from Edwardsville High School, attended SIU-SW and served four years with the Air Force. He presently is employed in the conservation field in

Dear Nana--Housewife Criticizes Lack of Respect for Senior Citizens

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copley News Service

Dear Nana:

I'm a 34-year-old housewife and I lost my parents when I was very young. Therefore, I'm shocked at the way other people show so little respect to the elderly.

Since I had no family we adopted a set of parents in our neighborhood and truly loved them as such.

Two months before we lost our adopted father and grandfather he was in a convalescent hospital. And during this time we got to know the other patients very well as we visited each every day.

I'm sure you see this heart-breaking problem in your rest home. But I was amazed at how few of these patients had any visitors. In fact, it upset us so that my mother-in-law and I made little gifts for them so they wouldn't feel so left out.

If people have to put their relatives in a home for the aged, and I know at times it's necessary, surely they can afford to spare them a few hours of their time. It means so much to the elderly.

As you own a rest home I'm wondering if you can advise me on an idea I've been considering.

I love to work with arts and crafts and have some time I could devote to helping the aged with projects. But I also have a handicap that would at times prevent me from doing this type of volunteer work. I'm wondering if it would be better not to work with them at all than to have to disappoint them when I'm unable physically to go to the convalescent hospital.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not an invalid and I'm quite capable of caring for my husband and children. But there are times when I can't do any more. Then at other times I'm able to give a few hours a week to teaching arts and crafts. What would you advise me to do? I'd like to help the older people. But I also don't want to hurt them because their families do so much of this by not visiting them.

Help or Hurt

Dear Help or Hurt:

By all means I think you should be teaching the older people arts and crafts. But I also think you should tell them of your tentative schedule, and why you may not be able to come at times. I'm sure they'll understand your handicap.

And may I suggest that you telephone way in advance when you know you aren't able to go to the convalescent hospital. One of the most disappointing things we see in this business is when someone tells these people she's coming and doesn't show up.

Dear Nana:

My husband and I are 63 retired and enjoy your column very much. And our only complaint is the need for a longer day.

For some time now I've thought I'd like to try my hand at writing but I seem to lack the confidence to get started. Any points you can pass on to me will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Jean

The Writer's Digest magazine has an introductory booklet which I'm sure would be very beneficial to a beginner.

It costs 25 cents which is just for handling and I'm sure it will answer many of your questions pertaining to this profession.

Under separate cover I've sent you the name, address and department to contact for this material.

Dear Nana:

It didn't take me as long to make the ice cream carton basket as it did to rest home, but I'd like to write you the directions for how I'd hate to see what the basket might look like if you just had my directions to go by. Good luck to you.

You must lead a very interesting life with your newspaper work and a rest home, too. I would like to know all about your establishment.

My daughter and I are both interested. She works as a director of activities and I help her as a volunteer when I can. She gets very disenchanted with the way some of these places operate and she wants to do something to put a little more "heart" into them.

I'm not able to help her much anymore. I'll be 72 soon and I live in a retirement lodge. About all the work I do anymore is in the infirmary here. I have a class once a week and it's hard to find projects that are not too childish and that men can do, too.

I'm going to try them out on the Christmas card basket project.

ect which I thank you for sending me.

No Name

Dear No Name:

The instructions you sent for the ice cream carton basket were very thorough and explicit. And I'm sure that any one could understand your directions as well as complete this lovely project.

Although I'd be very happy to answer any questions pertaining to my column and rest home, I wouldn't know what specific information you and your daughter would like to have.

Therefore, may I suggest that you advise me further on this matter and I'll be glad to help in any way possible.

Questions on problems of the elderly may be sent to Copley News Service, P. O. Box 190, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

Public Aid Cutback Would Cause Loss to Hospitals, Limit Medicaid to Clients

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A financial problem for area hospitals, including St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City, has been caused temporarily as proposed cutbacks in the state Medicaid program have been frozen by a U. S. district court judge pending a public hearing.

The new Illinois Department of Public Aid contract, which was signed by the state and hospital administrators would have reimbursed hospitals only for certain services for medical aid patients. The hospitals would have had to foot the bill for services not covered under the Medicaid program.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital, the contract allowed only $57.45 per patient, per day, while the estimated average cost for room, board and other care is $82 per day, according to Frank McGinnis, hospital controller.

"The effect would be that unless an adjustment on the part of the state was made, the hospital would be in a severe financial plight," McGinnis stated, "You cannot pay out more than you get," he added.

In Governor's Program The proposed cutbacks are part of Governor Richard B. Ogilvie's "belt tightening" program for the financially troubled Public Aid Department.

Contracts were to be signed by hospital administrators by Nov. 1, but the Lay Advisory Board of the hospital voted to delay action until the proposal could be studied. The hospital governing board is to meet at the end of this month and could sign the document. The lay board likely would comply, but it appears the state will meet a great deal of resistance from hospitals throughout the state before an agreement is reached.

The Illinois Hospital Association has voiced strong opposition to the new plan. Spokesmen said the group will file a class action suit on behalf of all hospitals, challenging the new guidelines.

The Chicago Hospital Council also has voiced strong opposition to the new Medicaid proposal and has urged member hospitals to delay signing contracts.

Spokesmen for Christian Welfare Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis have said that they would be forced to close if the new regulations would put into effect. The East St. Louis Hospitals estimate that 70% of their patients are public aid recipients.

Under the proposed rates, hospitals would ideally be reimbursed at the rate of actual cost per patient, per day, in 1970. The present offer is far below the $78 per patient, per day cost based on 1970 operation, McGinnis stated.

"Who is going to absorb the difference between the actual cost and what they are offering to pay us? We can not pass it to the paying patient because of the freeze so the hospital has to make up the difference," McGinnis commented.

"The problem that has worried us is our heavy out-patient county," McGinnis said. He explained that under the new regulations, medical aid patients would be limited to two out-patient visits each month.

"Who is going to keep track of the billing?" the controller asked, adding that keeping track of how many times a person visited the emergency room or treatment facilities would be a massive task.

"I do not know if even the Public Aid Department has the facilities for that," he said.

He questioned how the hospital is to know whether it should send the bill to the patient or the state. Collecting from the patient is another problem not provided for in the new regulations.

Medicaid recipients in the Quad-Cities area have received a letter outlining what care would be covered in the new regulations.

Must Be in Hospital One of the most drastic changes is that physician's services would be covered only by approval of the caseworker. Family planning services and transportation to and from places where medical care is provided would continue to be covered. Children will continue to be covered under the Department of Children and Family Services.

Both Medicaid only recipients and persons who receive public aid checks, would no longer receive free foot or dental care, with the exception of surgical cases involving employable persons between 18 and 59 years of age.

Eye treatment and glasses will be allowed only for eye infections, glaucoma and other services which must be provided by a fully licensed ophthalmologist.

Maintenance drugs would be the only allowable refillable prescriptions.

U. S. District Judge Hubert L. Will ruled Thursday that these cutbacks could not be made until Medicaid recipients were informed of the proposed changes in writing and were given an opportunity to object at a public hearing.

A financial problem for area hospitals, including St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City, has been caused temporarily as proposed cutbacks in the state Medicaid program have been frozen by a U. S. district court judge pending a public hearing.

The new Illinois Department of Public Aid contract, which was signed by the state and hospital administrators would have reimbursed hospitals only for certain services for medical aid patients. The hospitals would have had to foot the bill for services not covered under the Medicaid program.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital, the contract allowed only $57.45 per patient, per day, while the estimated average cost for room, board and other care is $82 per day, according to Frank McGinnis, hospital controller.

A financial problem for area hospitals, including St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City, has been caused temporarily as proposed cutbacks in the state Medicaid program have been frozen by a U. S. district court judge pending a public hearing.

The new Illinois Department of Public Aid contract, which was signed by the state and hospital administrators would have reimbursed hospitals only for certain services for medical aid patients. The hospitals would have had to foot the bill for services not covered under the Medicaid program.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital, the contract allowed only $57.45 per patient, per day, while the estimated average cost for room, board and other care is $82 per day, according to Frank McGinnis, hospital controller.

"The effect would be that unless an adjustment on the part of the state was made, the hospital would be in a severe financial plight," McGinnis stated, "You cannot pay out more than you get," he added.

In Governor's Program The proposed cutbacks are part of Governor Richard B. Ogilvie's "belt tightening" program for the financially troubled Public Aid Department.

Contracts were to be signed by hospital administrators by Nov. 1, but the Lay Advisory Board of the hospital voted to delay action until the proposal could be studied. The hospital governing board is to meet at the end of this month and could sign the document. The lay board likely would comply, but it appears the state will meet a great deal of resistance from hospitals throughout the state before an agreement is reached.

The Illinois Hospital Association has voiced strong opposition to the new plan. Spokesmen said the group will file a class action suit on behalf of all hospitals, challenging the new guidelines.

The Chicago Hospital Council also has voiced strong opposition to the new Medicaid proposal and has urged member hospitals to delay signing contracts.

Spokesmen for Christian Welfare Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis have said that they would be forced to close if the new regulations would put into effect. The East St. Louis Hospitals estimate that 70% of their patients are public aid recipients.

Under the proposed rates, hospitals would ideally be reimbursed at the rate of actual cost per patient, per day, in 1970. The present offer is far below the $78 per patient, per day cost based on 1970 operation, McGinnis stated.

"Who is going to absorb the difference between the actual cost and what they are offering to pay us? We can not pass it to the paying patient because of the freeze so the hospital has to make up the difference," McGinnis commented.

"The problem that has worried us is our heavy out-patient county," McGinnis said. He explained that under the new regulations, medical aid patients would be limited to two out-patient visits each month.

"Who is going to keep track of the billing?" the controller asked, adding that keeping track of how many times a person visited the emergency room or treatment facilities would be a massive task.

"I do not know if even the Public Aid Department has the facilities for that," he said.

He questioned how the hospital is to know whether it should send the bill to the patient or the state. Collecting from the patient is another problem not provided for in the new regulations.

Medicaid recipients in the Quad-Cities area have received a letter outlining what care would be covered in the new regulations.

Must Be in Hospital One of the most drastic changes is that physician's services would be covered only by approval of the caseworker. Family planning services and transportation to and from places where medical care is provided would continue to be covered. Children will continue to be covered under the Department of Children and Family Services.

Both Medicaid only recipients and persons who receive public aid checks, would no longer receive free foot or dental care, with the exception of surgical cases involving employable persons between 18 and 59 years of age.

Eye treatment and glasses will be allowed only for eye infections, glaucoma and other services which must be provided by a fully licensed ophthalmologist.

Maintenance drugs would be the only allowable refillable prescriptions.

U. S. District Judge Hubert L. Will ruled Thursday that these cutbacks could not be made until Medicaid recipients were informed of the proposed changes in writing and were given an opportunity to object at a public hearing.

Public Aid Cutback Would Cause Loss to Hospitals, Limit Medicaid to Clients

Bandwagon Psychology Aiding Simon Campaign

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — As far as the Statehouse is concerned it's all but official. Lt. Gov. Paul Simon will be the Democratic candidate for governor in 1972. As noted here earlier, there has been a growing feeling beneath the Capitol Dome that Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley has already decided on Simon as the nominee.

This feeling is even stronger today. Simon's bandwagon strategy appears to be achieving brilliant success. His public endorsement is beginning to snowball. Illinois' organized labor is already in his camp and unprecedentedly early. Simon also has picked up the endorsement of 47 state legislators. Although these were virtually all from Downstate, the Statehouse read, significance into the listing. There is the prevailing opinion that no Democrat with political ambitions of his own would take a chance of antagonizing the all-powerful Daley.

Subtly and not altogether secretly, "the word" is floating about the cavernous reaches of the Capitol—it's Simon. What happens from here on out is expected to be the usual Democratic window-dressing, the accustomed interviewing of candidates and slate-making. But from a practical standpoint this will be merely a process of filling out the ticket-seeking to compile a strong and balanced one geographically, and one that will insure that Simon and the Daley organization will score big in the 1972 primary against maverick gubernatorial candidate Dan Walker.

With Simon virtually assured of the governor nomination, the character of the 1972 campaign, for both primary and general election, is already taking clear shape.

Walker in his press conference here summed it up by tabbing Simon as the organization man who will have to make unfortunate compromises to stay in the cratic regulars.

Republicans in the fall will no doubt assail Simon as an ambitious young man who departed from an earlier idealism to win Daley's support and the big job as governor.

To many, the Simon-Daley strategy to date has been designed to lessen this issue to a significant degree. Simon will go before the slate-making committee with an impressive list of endorsements, and when it is all over—Daley can say that he was far from the only one who wanted Simon for governor.

Simon is the ideal weapon for blunting the independents' attack on the Daley organization, last of the nation's big-city political machines.

He can be expected to roll up a huge Democratic plurality over Walker, little known in this area despite his well-publicized walk up the state.

The Daley organization should deliver big for Simon in Chicago.

Walker's best hope for making any kind of a showing will be a protest vote, especially among the young.

It is possible that there are many of these as well as anti-Democrats who bear no antagonism against Simon, but who might cast a ballot for Walker just to avow their rown independence and express a quiet protest against Daley.

Educators See Problem Of Rural Students

Educators in areas defined as rural face a major problem in how to prepare youngsters who, unpredictably, may continue to reside in the home rural surroundings, or might be living later in an urban environment. That's according to John E. King, chairman of the department of higher education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. King discussed this subject and other rural problems with 15 educators in New York City.

Although discussions centered on nationwide and worldwide questions about rural education and development, King said they brought into focus a formidable responsibility for the Carbondale campus.

The group of 16 participated in a conference sponsored by The Agricultural Development Council, Inc., established by John D. Rockefeller III. Attendance was almost evenly divided among persons in cultural anthropology, rural education, agricultural education, and agricultural economics. King represented the higher education side of rural education.

Data produced at the conference included research dealing with ways to encourage people to live in rural areas because of the difficulties cities currently are facing. Proposals included an obvious development of more jobs, and a project to inaugurate study of whether it really is a lack of jobs that causes youngsters to leave rural situations. The study proposal was based on a theory that there may be "cultural vacuum" reasons why young people leave rural areas.

Car Care Key to Winter Driving, Veizer Warns

Motorists can take a lesson from our space program—advance planning can avoid many a panic situation, Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer warned Granite City drivers today.

Chief Veizer was referring to winter driving problems during the months ahead. He had this to say:

"Police and emergency vehicles are seriously hindered from doing their jobs when they are held up in traffic tie-ups caused by stalled or stuck vehicles on winter-slick roads. Someone who needs our help in an emergency may not get it."

"While our Department stands ready to do all it can to keep the roadways clear, it still boils down to each motorist's responsibility to maintain his vehicle in the best possible operating conditions for winter conditions," the chief said.

In order to keep its own vehicles moving, the Police Department relies upon recommendations of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards which also are endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. These are:

• Visibility — Be equipped to keep all windows and lights clear of ice and snow. This means making sure, in advance, that your defroster can do its job; that windshield wipers are not dry or cracked, and that the washer is filled with an adequate anti-freeze solution.

• Getting Started — Practice heavy-snow starts before you get stuck. The correct technique is to turn your wheels from side to side to clear snow and slush away from the tires. Vehicles with stick shift should use second gear to start. Drivers with automatic shift, start in drive.

Keeping on the Road — Know how slick the surface really is. Away from traffic, try your brakes gently or make a quick, sudden power application to find out how slick the pavement really is. Good drivers do this regularly whenever there is any question about traction. This is known as "getting the feel of the road."

Plan your maneuvers well in advance to avoid skidding and loss of control. If you should start to skid, ease up on the accelerator and turn your wheels in the direction of the skid. Easy does it.

• Traction Aids — Equip your car with them now. Whether you select snow tires or studded tires depends on when, where and how you drive. Remember though, traction aids should be used on all four wheels to gain any appreciable improvement in steering control. Carry recommended tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.

Chief Veizer pointed out that a driver's best defense against winter conditions is to slow down and allow maximum distance between his car and other drivers. That, according to the chief, really spells out how well Granite City's traffic keeps on the move.

Harvest Is Completed Earlier Than Normal

By WARREN W. BUNDY

Ideal weather let farmers complete harvest of corn and normal this fall, and much fall plowing is done.

Some bottomland soils of the "gumbo" type must be plowed in the fall to work into a good seedbed next spring. Fall-plowed ground should be left rough to reduce water runoff and soil erosion.

Many farmers in the sandy bottomland areas have good stands of rye seeded and growing to keep the sand from blowing. Many of our sands are quite fine and subject to wind erosion if left unprotected.

Cornstalk shredding is another good soil conservation practice used by many farmers.

Studies show a definite advantage of shredding cornstalks to provide soil cover. Properly shredded, these stalks can almost completely protect soil from the impact of raindrops. Raindrops work hardest on bare soil and start it moving down-hill in rilling fields.

Corn harvesting losses have been low this year except in some fields where stalkrot was a problem and the corn lodged before harvest.

Livestock farmers can salvage part of the harvest loss in fenced cornfields by letting hogs, cattle and lambs glean the corn. Hogs are better adapted to cleaning up corn left in fields after picking than either beef or sheep.

Pigs weighing 75-100 pounds are best suited to cornfield gleaning. You can use lighter animals if you put heavy hogs with them to break down the corn. If there is enough down corn to supply hogs for a period, you should feed protein supplement and a mineral mixture.

How much corn will hogs eat in the field? Ten pigs weighing 75 to 100 pounds and fed a protein supplement will eat about a bushel of corn a day. Five or six hogs weighing 150 to 200 pounds will clean up a bushel daily.

Brood sows can be turned into the field after finishing hogs have picked up most of the corn. Sows may become too fat if they are the first animals out in the field.

Good management is vital when cattle are turned out down corn. Poor handling can lead to overeating or digestive disturbances. Founder can be a problem for extremely thin cattle in down corn.

Yearling cattle that have had access to feed have fewer problems in cornfields than younger cattle that have never eaten corn.

Sheep can create more problems in down corn than either hogs or cattle. Overeating and scouring cause the most trouble for sheep in the cornfield. All lambs should be vaccinated for overeating disease.

Only feeder lambs that have already been exposed to grain should be turned into the fields, and the area they cover should be restricted to prevent overeating. It's also a good idea to have a high quality legume hay or other roughages available to the lambs while they are in the field.

Volunteer corn problems will be less next year in gleaned fields. Each kernel removed from the field now means one less potential volunteer corn plant next year.

Survey of Employment In Area Is Scheduled

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of Nov. 15, Curtis T. Hill, director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Chicago, has announced.

This survey is conducted each month by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of households throughout the entire U. S.

The employment and unemployment statistics which this survey provides are prime indicators of economic conditions of the nation. For example, the September survey showed employment had risen substantially while unemployment remained virtually unchanged after allowance for the usual seasonal movements. The over-all seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 6.0%, little changed from the 6.1% of August. It was 5.8% the following month.

Facts supplied by the individuals participating in the survey are kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Regional Report -- Shipping Terminal, State Office Building in News

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

The Illinois House unanimously passed two bills authorizing $2.5 million for a state office building in East St. Louis, sending them to the Senate. Plans call for the new building to be located on the 100 block of Louisville Avenue in East St. Louis.

In other state actions affecting this region, a bill calling for division of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, which would create a new levee district in Madison County and divide the present district's St. Clair County limits as they are, was approved by the Illinois House.

A patched scenic rivers bill remained water logged in the Illinois Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee after a 7-7 tie vote.

A bill calling for the establishment of authorities to build exposition centers in Madison, St. Clair Counties and three other areas of the state will not be introduced in the current session of the Illinois General Assembly.

Plans are being developed for construction of a marine shipping terminal on the east bank of the Mississippi River near Hartford by the Phoenix Terminal Co., Route 4, Edwardsville.

The facility, now in the preliminary planning stages, will be for cargo transfer from barges to trucks and vice-versa. The Phoenix terminal would be the only one between Granite City and the area north of Alton.

In other transportation news, the general manager of the St. Louis Area Rapid Transit Authority announced that federal officials have agreed to assist in attempts to obtain $900,000 for preliminary engineering on the proposed rapid transit system for Illinois, St. Louis and St. Clair County.

The St. Clair County Farm Bureau board of directors has adopted a resolution to forward a statement to the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority objecting to a major airport being located in the Millstead - Columbia - Waterloo area.

The Illinois Division of Highways is planning a $2.6 million project to improve Illinois 101 from its junction with U. S. 50 in French Village south toward Belleville for 1.6 miles.

Laclede Steel Co. President Paul B. Akin, in a letter to stockholders reported third-quarter earnings of $807,074, an improvement over last year's third-quarter loss of an almost like amount.

Akin said Laclede's earnings for the first nine months of this year were well above last year's loss for the same period.

Amsted Industries announced its earnings per share were up 17% in the year ended Sept. 30, on a small increase in sales. Additions to fixed assets in 1971 included major expenditures for air pollution control systems at five foundry plants, including the one at Granite City.

The Alliance for Regional Community Health will receive a recommendation Nov. 17 to disapprove until 1975 all hospital construction in this region and five counties in Missouri.

The U. S. Census Bureau, as a result of a special census in September, announced that the village of Bethalto is officially 258 people larger.

Site development plans for O'Fallon's 109-acre Roth Springs Park will be worked out this month by 13 SIU-SW graduate students and David Roth, their instructor in urban and regional planning and director for the Regal Taxicab Co. in East St. Louis began a strike Nov. 1 as the result of a contract dispute.

One of the designs were Cecil Carnes, Cleveland McIntyre, James Dumas and Eddie Smith.

Directed by Miss Irene Hackett, the cast includes seven girls and three boys. Tickets may be purchased in advance from members of the junior class or at the door the night of the play.

The play, a mystery-comedy in three acts by Felicia Metcalfe, relates the experiences of persons inheriting a lonely old

Members of the cast are Donald Getz, Karen Watkins, Evelyn Willard, Ella Jones, Brenda Bailey, Raymond Mosby, Carolyn Moore, Toni Eck, Danny Severs and Beverly Mulnik.

Lawrence Caruso is in charge of the stage, and prompters are Ida McIntyre, Daria Aaron and Janet McGarrahan.

Deposit May Be Required on 'Non-Return' Bottles, Cans

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—Illinois residents, who lost their autumnal leaf fires to the ecology movement may be about to lose another cherished institution, the carry home and throw away beer can and soda bottle.

If the Illinois Pollution Control Board adopts a recommendation which has been placed before it, a five-cent deposit will be required on every bottle or can containing a soft drink or malt beverage sold in Illinois.

Indirectly, the board has already indicated it is favorably disposed toward passing such an act.

Earlier this year, a group of citizens petitioned the board asking a ban on sale of beverages in non-returnable cans and bottles.

Last March, the board held it could not act on the petition without first receiving recommendations from the Task Force for Solid Waste Management, "whatever our views on the desirability" of adopting such regulations. No hearing date has been set so far.

After four months of hearings by a Task Force subcommittee, the entire 22-member Task Force voted in favor of a recommendation that a five-cent deposit be required on every beverage container sold in the state, while turning down almost unanimously other proposals which would have taxed packages and packaging materials, or placed an outright ban on use of non-returnable containers.

The door was left slightly ajar on the tax issue by the Task Force, which voted 14 to 2, with six abstentions, on a recommendation holding that the board-base tax on packages and packaging materials "is not appropriate . . . at this time."

Voting on the recommendations to impose deposits on returnable and non-returnable containers alike was 13 to 7, with two members absent.

The 22-task force members include business and professional people, specialists in environment and ecology, government and law as well as representatives of waste disposal firms and the container industry.

Michael Schneiderman, director of the Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality, of which the Task Force is a part, said the recommendation is a two-pronged effort, designed as a weapon against litter and as a tool for reducing waste of raw materials, energy and manpower. Other recommended proposals urged improved litter-prevention action by government and industry, and monitoring of the experience in other states.

If Illinois' experience follows that of other states and one Canadian province with similar programs, representatives of the manpower involved may be expected to come out loud and clear against the idea, as will retailers reluctant to find themselves back in the used bottle business, which has declined with increased popularity of throw-away containers.

A similar idea has been adopted in Oregon, and one has been in effect for some time in British Columbia, where a Canadian vice-president and general manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. said experience with the law could be summed up in one word: "Disastrous."

Proponents of the idea maintain recycling would make, not eliminate, jobs; would save natural resources and energy; would beautify the landscape by lessening litter; and would be economical for the consumer since beverages in returnable containers are generally cheaper to retail than those in throw-away packaging.

Two Granite City residents are being honored by the Olin Works in East Alton for a "milestone dinner" Tuesday evening for long-service employees of Olin Corporation.

The dinner, at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant in East Alton, was for employees completing 25, 30, 35, 40 or 45 years of service with the company during 1971.

Madison Supports New State Office At Airport Site

The Madison City Council adopted a resolution supporting a proposal for construction of a new state office building at the site of Lakeside Airport during a meeting Tuesday night.

The property recently was offered free to the state for the purpose by William Nichols, owner of the land.

The council deemed that construction of the building at the airport location would be in the best interest of the city. A copy of the resolution is to be forwarded to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Mayor Mike Sasyk reported that a four-page brochure on the Stephen M. Maers Industrial Park, distributed to various industries, has resulted in six inquiries so far.

The brochure was prepared by Dr. Robert L. Koepke and Philip D. Steffen as an industrial studies project at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Approve Appointments

The council approved appointment of Mike Economy, Charles Voloski and Kerry Scrum as probationary firemen and authorized a call for bids for 1,000 feet of 2½-inch fire hose on the recommendation of Fire Chief Elton Rhoads.

Upon the suggestion of Mayor Sasyk, the council planned to consider job opportunities for qualified unemployed veterans of military service.

A report by Police Chief Frank Durko showed that 35 major crimes were reported in the city during October, a reduction of 22 from the number for the same month a year ago. Mayor Sasyk commended both the police and street departments and their staffs for "doing an outstanding job. They are improving every month."

Police Honored
Durko told the council that his department is being cited at a police training school as one of the most up-to-date and outstanding departments in the state for the city of the size of Madison.

The major crimes included one robbery, same as last year; 11 assaults, up two; four burglaries, down 15; 15 larcenies, down six; and four auto thefts, down one. There were 18 traffic arrests; 21 juvenile arrests and 16 other arrests.

The council approved installation of street lights at the corner of 10th Street and Alton Avenue and at the Madison Recreation Center.

Madisonians, 45 have served the company 35 years; 12 for 40 years and seven for 45 years.

Bomb Call at Bowland Lanes Routes Bowlers

Bowlers at Bowland Lanes, 5050 Nameoki Road, were routed from the building for 45 minutes during the weekend after a young male caller reported "a bomb is going to go off."

Mrs. Joyce Taylor, an employee of the lanes, answered and immediately informed buyers of the bomb threat and asked them to leave.

Madison County Sheriff's nightriders and Mitchell Volunteer firemen were called and searched the interior and exterior of the building. A small package was found in shrubbery outside of the building and the 50th Ordinance Detachment (bomb disposal squad) from the Granite City Army Installation was summoned.

The squad opened the package and reported it was not a bomb, but only trash which apparently had blown against the building.

The threat was the second in recent weeks. A week ago a similar call forced daytime bowlers to evacuate the building.

The best idea to come out of Detroit in years.

Initiation is the sincerest form of flattery, someone once said. And never before has our modest car been on the receiving end of so much flattery.

What with the Big 3 auto makers coming out with a little 3.

And one even promising not to change designs for five years.

Of course, it wasn't always like this. Take 1949, for instance.

The only people who liked the Beetle then were the two who bought it.

But being first with an idea also has its advantages.

Nobody, for example, has the experience we have working on a single small car.

We've had the time to test our idea.

And improve it thousands of times. In fact, it's kind of funny now.

Watching the makers of 425 horsepower engines try to catch up with a Volkswagen.

Alaskans Fear Nuclear Test at Amchitka, Rev. Fryntzko Reports

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

If Quad-Cityans thought about the underground nuclear explosion at Amchitka Island in Alaska, their concern probably reflected the ecological, moral or political implications of the Atomic Energy Commission test.

To one transplanted Granite Cityan and thousands of Alaskan natives, the concern went far deeper and the consequences seemed of much greater importance than to those remote from the test site.

"Why are they hurting us? Why are they destroying our land?" were the simply stated anguished questions most frequently posed in the past few weeks by Aleuts, Indians and Eskimos who make up the parish of the Rev. Theodore Fryntzko, formerly of Granite City.

The Rev. Fryntzko, pastor of Three Saints Orthodox Church at Old Harbor, a fishing village located on the southern coast of Kodiak Island in the Aleutian chain, stopped here briefly last week.

Anxious To Get Back
He was enroute home to Alaska after attending the second All American Sabor of the Orthodox Church in America (formerly the Russian Orthodox Church). The convocation was held at St. Tikhon's Seminary in South Canaan, Pa.

Anxious to get back to his parishioners here, the priest commented, "Everybody is very worried about the explosion."

"All the people are very much against it and they are afraid. It is hard to answer their questions why it must happen, when they believe it will destroy the land," the Rev. Fryntzko said.

The Old Harbor villagers narrowly escaped a tragedy on March 24, 1964, when an earthquake and tidal wave struck the Alaskan coast and caused widespread destruction.

Most of the homes in the Old

Harbor area were demolished by the quake. The Three Saints Church, however, was not among the structures destroyed.

Memory of the immense tidal wave which swept through the area just seven years ago and the resulting damage further adds to the villagers fear of the Amchitka test.

The United States Supreme Court failed Saturday to reverse a lower court decision which denied a preliminary injunction to stay the controversial Amchitka test.

The injunction was sought by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility and other plaintiffs.

Involved in the test was the five-megaton warhead for the Spartan missile, a component of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system. Government officials contended the test was essential to national security.

Kodiak Island, where Father Fryntzko's extensive parish is located, is the first and largest island in the Aleutian chain—a series of atolls and islands dwindling in size—that stretches southwesterly from the Alaskan mainland and divides the Bering Sea and the Pacific Ocean.

Test Island to South
Amchitka Island, site of the nuclear test, is situated on the most southerly tip of the island chain.

The Rev. Fryntzko began his missionary assignment at Old Harbor on Kodiak Island one year ago. Since then, he has been granted a broader pastorate and now administers to the people in the communities of Karluk, Larsen Bay and Akhiok, in addition to his original Old Harbor parish.

The native Granite Cityan sought the assignment after his interest in the country, its people and their needs became keenly aroused during a visit to Alaska just a few months earlier.

The Rev. Fryntzko made the initial trip to Alaska with his brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Fryntzko, and Mr. and Mrs. Vala Fryntzko, all of Granite City, to the first canonization in the Western Hemisphere conducted by the Orthodox Church.

Canonization Services
The services, held Aug. 8, 1970, at the Russian Orthodox Church of the Resurrection at Kodiak, recognized the sainthood of Father Herman of Spruce Island, a Russian Orthodox monk who died in Russian America—now Alaska—on Dec. 13, 1837.

Churchmen from several countries attended the canonization which elevated to sainthood the monk sent from Russian Finland in 1794 to aid the Alaskan natives.

The Orthodox Church of America is an organization of about 850,000, with its independence from Moscow in April 1909.

All Orthodox churches—American, Russian and Greek—share the same saints, the Rev. Fryntzko said.

The original Orthodox church was built at Old Harbor by the natives when the first missionaries came from Russia before the territory was sold to the United States in 1867.

The fishing village has a population of more than 200, including over 130 children. Most are of Eskimo, Aleut or Indian descent.

Limited Access
Old Harbor can only be reached by boat, helicopter or amphibian. It is surrounded by towering mountains, a way's snow-capped even in August, with the Pacific Ocean as its front door.

Prior to leaving Kodiak in mid-October, the Rev. Fryntzko said, "the people were very frightened of what could happen if the blast is set off."

How it will affect the fishing, the only commercial enterprise in the villages, and the clear blue water that laps at the village doorstep is of primary concern to the island's inhabitants.

A member of the "Don't Make a Wave Committee," which is working to prevent a peace mission to Amchitka to protest the test and monitor the test area, visited Kodiak Island last month.

The 15-member Greenpeace crew, mostly Canadians who are experts in the fields of ecology, radiation, nuclear physics and physiology, planned to cruise just outside the three-mile limit off the coast of Amchitka if the blast took place.

Gale Force Winds
It was announced last week the U. S. Department of State has suspended the right of passage by aircraft and ships through the territorial waters of the Aleutian chain.

Gale force winds were reported south of the Aleutian chain last week which apparently prevented a second motor vessel carrying the Greenpeace 2 mission from reaching Kodiak in time and forced the vessel to alter its course to Prince Rupert in British Columbia.

According to the Greenpeace representatives visiting the Rev. Fryntzko's island the protest mission had cost a total of $26,000 to date. Most of the monetary support came from individuals and organizations throughout the U. S. and Canada who recognized the need for such a show of support for ecology and environmental issues.

The Rev. Fryntzko was born and reared in Granite City and attended McKinley Grade School, Central Junior High School and was graduated from Granite City High School.

Former Navy Man
During World War II years, the priest served from 1942 to 1946 in the U. S. Navy. Upon discharge from the service he attended courses at St. Louis University and was employed at General Steel Industries.

Later, he enrolled at St. Vladimir Orthodox Theological Seminary in New York, where he completed his studies in 1954 and accomplished undergraduate work at Columbia University.

The Rev. Fryntzko was engaged in religious training work from 1954 until April 7, 1967, when he became the first native son of Illinois to be ordained in his own church—the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison.

Prior to his Alaskan assignment, he was pastor at the Holy Resurrection of Christ Orthodox Catholic Church in Sioux City, Iowa.

The Rev. Fryntzko and his five brothers, Vasil, John, Andrew, Harry and Vladimir, all worked as Press-Record delivery boys at various times in past years.

Stanley Swinton to Lecture at SIU-SW

Stanley M. Swinton, assistant general manager and director of world services for the Associated Press, will lecture at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the Communications Building theater.

As a foreign correspondent, Swinton's byline has appeared on dispatches from more than 100 countries. He has covered wars, revolutions and foreign ministries and is a personal friend of many famous persons alive, covering from film stars to presidents.

He wrote a famous eyewitness account from behind the German lines when Benito Mussolini was killed and hung by his heels by Communist partisans. The late King Farouk once expelled him from Egypt for disclosing to the world that Farouk planned to make the fiancée of a young Egyptian commoner his queen against her will.

On leave from AP during World War II, he was a front-line correspondent for Stars and Stripes in North Africa, Italy and Southern France. He resumed his war correspondent's role during the Korean conflict.

In 1946 he covered the first phases of the Vietnamese revolution, which then was directed against France, and interviewed Ho Chi Minh several times. In 1966 he was the first American newsman allowed back into Indonesia after the Communists were overthrown.

Today Swinton directs AP news and newsphoto distribution in more than 100 countries. His lecture at SIU-SW is one in a series of practicing communicators being brought to the University under the sponsorship of the mass communications faculty. The public is invited, admission free.

McKendree Dean Goes Where the Students Are

If you go looking for the dean of students office at McKendree College in Lebanon, start at the other end of the campus from the rest of the administration.

McKendree's campus consists of an old section "on the hill" which includes the historic Biltwell Chapel, Old Main, the old library now used for an art building, the old residence halls and the administrative offices.

The new section includes the new library, science hall, student center, residence hall and dining hall.

Tom Darrah, who became dean of students this fall, decided the campus was too divided between the old and the new and he wanted to get down where the students are to help bridge the division. First he sought quarters in some old frame temporary classrooms. When this proved impractical, he sought other alternatives.

Last week he and his staff of three moved into the former head resident's quarters in Baker Hall, one of the two new men's dormitories.

"I wanted to be where I was more accessible to the students," Darrah said. "Some of them probably are suspicious. I'm moving in on their territory so to speak, but I think they'll accept the idea as they begin to realize why I am doing it."

Darrah has increased the college emphasis on counseling and has added two professionally trained counselors to his staff. While he has an assistant whose primary function is to work with student organizations in campus activities, he has involved himself in much of these programs too.

Darrah, 33, a former tackle at Kent State, was on the dean of student's staff there before he took a series of posts as assistant dean and then dean of students at smaller colleges in Wisconsin and northern Illinois. He was acquainted with Dr. Eric Rackham, president of McKendree, when Rackham was executive dean at Kent State.

Enters Medical School

Russell Gertsch, 1614 Garfield Ave., is among 205 new students from Illinois who have entered the University of Illinois Medical Center at Chicago. He is enrolled in the college of dentistry.

FSA Members Hear Talk On Meeting Procedures

Miss Marguerite Grumme, one of 408 registered parliamentarians in the United States, was the featured speaker at a meeting of more than 50 Future Secretaries Association members at their meeting at Granite City High School last week.

Miss Grumme, of St. Louis, is a nationally known parliamentarian and instructor and lecturer on parliamentary law and protocol. She is also a certified professional parliamentarian in the American Institute of Parliamentarians.

Her talk centered on some of the most common errors of running a meeting, such as asking for motions to approve the report of the treasurer and to adjourn a meeting. It is incorrect to have motions in either of these instances, she said. She also mentioned that "Respectfully submitted" should not be at the conclusion of the secretary's minutes.

A meeting is correctly opened with just one rap of the gavel by the presiding officer, and not several, Miss Grumme gave a brief history of George Robert who originated Robert's Rules of Order.

Because it takes 30 hours of study and an examination before an individual can become a member in the National Parliamentarians, followed by two more years of concentrated study and a detailed examination before becoming a registered parliamentarian, those who have earned the title are constantly bringing to the attention of various organizations that it is improper to call anyone in their group a parliamentarian if the title has not been earned.

The correct title to use is parliamentary advisor for the member who assists the president on parliamentary procedure.

Presents Gavel

Miss Grumme presented President Karen Romine with a miniature gavel at the conclusion of her talk.

Special recognition was given at the beginning of the business meeting to Mrs. June Monte, CPS, a member of the Alton chapter, National Secretaries Association, who was present at the meeting along with Miss Maria Barton, president of the Alpha Iliia FSA chapter, Roxana, and four other FSA members from that chapter.

Janet Lambert, recording secretary, read the minutes of the meeting held Oct. 5, and Treasurer Connie Kutosky gave the treasurer's report.

Announcement of a $2,000 scholarship from the National Secretaries Association was made by President Romine, and over a dozen senior FSA members indicated they were interested in taking the examination to qualify for the award.

Arrangements are being made for sufficient copies of the examination to be obtained, and the time and place for administering it will be announced.

Christmas Candles

A Christmas candle sale is in the process of being concluded by the members, with a total of 20 dozen candles sold. The members were urged to complete all sales, and turn in the money by today.

The chairman of the Miss FSA committee, Nancy Pinney, briefly outlined the point system to be used for the selection of the winner of the Miss FSA title next May.

Among other things, points are earned for attendance at monthly meetings, participation in money-raising projects and civic projects, volunteer typing, wearing of FSA pins, attendance at NSA-sponsored workshops and at FSA meetings of other chapters.

Any members who wish to earn points by doing some volunteer typing were instructed to contact one of the FSA officers.

Joy Barr reported on a trip she and 11 other FSA members made to the local chapter made to the Alpha Iliia FSA meeting at Roxana High School, accompanied by faculty advisor Mrs. Judi Sparks and NSA representative Mrs. Charlene Vunovic.

Committee Assignments

The 44 new members who were initiated in October were advised of the committees to which they had been assigned, and were notified that the chairman of the committee would be in touch with them.

President Romine announced that a Christmas party, under the direction of Gloria Konkel, will be held in December instead of a business meeting, and more information about the party would be forthcoming.

In addition to the special guests from Roxana, the meeting was attended by faculty advisors Glen Hubbard and Judi Sparks, and Mrs. Charlene Vunovic, FSA chairman from the Tri-Cities Chapter, NSA.

One-Act Plays Set At McKendree Campus

McKendree College students enrolled in courses in acting and directing will test their skills in a series of one-act plays and play cuttings to be presented on the Lebanon campus Nov. 12 and 13.

The Friday performance will be at 2 p.m., and the Saturday production at 2 p.m., both in Eisenhower Auditorium. Members of drama clubs in the area will be special guests, and the public is welcome to attend both performances.

The program is varied ranging from pathos to humor, and even includes a one-act mystery. One of the plays is a sketch written by a Southern Illinois University student.

Miss Neuman Elected To Student Senate

Mary Ann Neumann, 1551 Cottage Ave., has won a half-term seat on the Student Senate at Southern Illinois University.

Southwestern, it was announced by Pat Loftus, elections commissioner.

Members elected for full term seats were Larry Michael Smith, East Alton; Harvey Prentice, East St. Louis; Dean Drake, Belleville; Tom Terri, Springfield; Gary Forrester, Godfrey; Tariq "Terry" Faridi, Edwardsville; and Tom Galati, St. Louis.

Nijinsky Danced Like Pro During Early Days

Editor's Note: Vaslav Nijinsky, 1890-1950, was a Russian ballet dancer of legendary status. Also a choreographer, he created L'Apres-Midi d'un Faune and La Sacre du Printemps. This is one of a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

By BETT ANDERSON
Copley News Service

By the time Vaslav Nijinsky was a teenager, he was dancing like a professional.

He was a pupil at the Russian Imperial School of Ballet. Both his parents were ballet dancers and he had great talent.

Apparently he had everything going for him to be a fine performer. But poverty reared its ugly head. His father deserted the family. Vaslav became a laborer in the hot fields.

When he started at the Imperial School, he worked hard as he had in the field. Hour after hour he went through back-breaking exercises and routines.

The other pupils made fun of him because of his Mongolian features. This begged Vaslav. But he was not too unhappy. For the first time in many years, he had enough to eat and clothes furnished by the school.

Besides dancing, Nijinsky had to take all of the regular subjects. He thought languages, history and geography were "dullsville." Sports were not allowed at the school for fear ugly muscles would develop.

Fencing, however, was permitted and Nijinsky was a neat fencer. He was also good with a bow and arrow. Unfortunately, he missed a target one day and hit a teacher in the eye.

He was expelled but later was taken back into the school. Vaslav Nijinsky became the best pupil in the Imperial School. Other pupils had dates and even went steady. Vaslav's only love was dancing. He would practice until he fell down from exhaustion.

His teachers were amazed at his ability and dedication. He seemed to defy the very laws of gravity.

In 1905, when 15, Vaslav was caught in a mob of people marching on the czar's palace. A squadron of mounted men dispersed the demonstration. One of the mounted Cossacks inflicted a wound on Vaslav's forehead, leaving a lifelong scar on his face.

Finally, Vaslav's teachers confessed that they could teach him no more. He was more skilled than they. As soon as he graduated, he was offered important roles in various theaters. Every ballerina except Pavlova, wanted him for a partner.

Nijinsky is still considered to have been the world's greatest male ballet dancer.

26 to Report For Draft Examinations

Twenty-six young men from Madison County have been instructed to report for draft physical examinations Thursday, Nov. 18. The call includes seven men from the Quad-City area, six from Alton and 13 from Edwardsville.

Two young men reported for induction last week one from Alton and one from Edwardsville. The November call is for six men, three each from Edwardsville and Alton. There have been no inductions of Quad-City area men since June when one man reported for the armed service.

A December induction call has been issued for eight young men, two from the Quad-City area, two from Edwardsville and four from Alton, all to report Dec. 7.

The lottery numbers for physical examinations remain at 140 for men born in 1951 and before, and 50 for those born in 1952 who were in the recent lottery. The limit for inductions remains at 125 with only those born in 1951 and before eligible for induction.

Joe Pollack Speaker at American Steel Banquet

Joe Pollack, public relations director of the St. Louis Football Cardinals, will be the principal speaker at the 28th annual meeting and banquet of the 25-Year Club at American Steel Foundries.

The event will take place Wednesday evening in the cafeteria at Granite City High School when 13 new members will be enrolled in the 480-member organization.

In addition to discussing the current prospects and trials of the Football Cardinals, Pollack will show a film recalling highlights of professional football.

The Cardinals publicity director has been more Big Red action than any member of the organization, missing only one pre-season game since the club moved to St. Louis in March 1960.

As of last Sunday, the string consisted of 201 consecutive games and 221 of 222 overall, including each of 160 regular-season contests and 61 of 62 pre-season games.

A native of New York, Pollack came to the Midwest in 1947 to attend the University of Wisconsin, receiving a Bachelor's degree in Journalism in January 1952.

He began covering the Cardinals as soon as the team moved to St. Louis, an assignment he held until he joined the Big Red staff in October 1961.

Pollack, 40, and his wife, Carol, live in St. Louis. He is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha Sigma Delta Chi professional organizations. He also is a charter member of the U. S. Basketball Writers Association and belongs to the Public Relations Society of America and Football Writers Association of America.

The number of deaths in the Quad-City area during October was the lowest in recent years, according to a vital statistics report released by Robert Stevens, city clerk.

The report shows 29 deaths occurred during the month, compared to 38 deaths in September and 33 in October 1970.

The number of deaths in the first 10 months of this year, 354, is slightly below the total of 372 in the same period last year.

Births declined in the area from 116 in September to 106 last month, bringing the total for the first 10 months of the year to 1,034. The number of births in the same period last year was 1,055.

For the second consecutive month, no fetal deaths were reported. The total for the year remains at 11, one more than in the same period last year.

Enrollment Open in Adult Courses at Venice Center

Registration is open for adult students to enroll in night classes at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center on South 4th Street, Venice.

Classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 with courses offered in reading, writing, mathematics, social studies, constitution (citizens) and science.

Books and other materials are furnished and no tuition is charged, Duane Rankin, Venice-Lincoln administrator noted. Students are required to be 16 years or older and not attending another school.

Instruction in the general study courses outlined primarily is geared to help students prepare for the General Education Development (GED) tests, Rankin said. He pointed out, however, that other levels of classwork is available, depending on the individual enrollee.

A new aspect to the Quad-Cities' adult vocational-technical school is approval of the course curriculum for veterans who can receive benefits under the G. I. Bill, Rankin said.

Further information may be obtained at the school, or by calling, 876-7792, any weekday.

Dixon to Chair District Heart Fund Campaign

State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon of Belleville has accepted the volunteer position of district chairman for the Heart Fund in a 10-county area of central and southeastern Illinois, it was announced this week by Howard R. Fricke, state Heart Fund vice-chairman.

Dixon was elected state treasurer in 1970 after serving eight years in the State Senate and 12 years in the House of Representatives.

During his legislative service, he was twice named chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and served as chairman of the Illinois Judicial Advisory Council, an agency which recommended legislation to reform and reorganize Illinois courts.

After serving two years in the Senate, fellow Democrats elected Dixon Assistant Minority Leader.

Dixon said "A total of 57.2% of the persons who died in Illinois during 1970 succumbed as a result of heart and blood vessel diseases, making these diseases by far the leading killer in our state and across the nation. With these figures in mind, I feel that it behooves all our citizens to join the fight against this modern day epidemic."

Joining Fricke in announcing Dixon's appointment was Fred G. Wellman of Bloomington, State Heart Fund Chairman. In a joint statement, Wellman and Fricke said, "We are delighted to have a man of Mr. Dixon's ability and background to serve in this important capacity and we feel that his leadership will be a great asset in securing funds to fight heart and blood vessel diseases."

Dixon will oversee fund raising activities in the following counties: Madison, Morgan, Cass, Greene, Calhoun, Jersey, Macoupin, Montgomery, Bond and Scott.

He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Washington University School of Law in St. Louis. He is a member of the Illinois State Bar Association, the St. Clair County Bar and the American Trial Lawyers Association.

He is a native of Belleville, where he now lives with his wife, two daughters, and a son.

Eagles to Distribute 100 Christmas Baskets

Granite City Eagles Aerie 1126 plans to distribute about 100 Christmas baskets to senior citizens in the Quad-Cities. It was announced at the lodge's annual fund-raising banquet by Chris Von Nida, drive chairman.

Some of the funds will be used to assist senior citizens in time of emergencies during the year, he said. Theme of the drive is "Happiness is giving."

About 150 persons at the dinner heard State Sen. Sam Vadalabene commend the lodge for its work and discuss legislation relative to senior citizens.

Alderman Paul Schuler reported on the city's progress in obtaining additional physicians here.

A turkey dinner was prepared and served by members of the Eagles Auxiliary.

The Mexican Honorary Commission will sponsor a public dance in February to benefit the Joseph Gonzalez Scholarship Fund. The event will be staged at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall with admission costing $1.50 per person.

Mrs. Alvenette Metcalf, dance committee chairman, said that tickets may be obtained from commission members.

The fund was established late last year in memory of Joseph Gonzalez, a teacher at Granite City High School and a commission member, who died of injuries following a traffic accident. Scholarships from the fund are given deserving local students to aid in their education.

Plans for the dance were discussed at a meeting of the Mexican Commission this week in the basement of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Steve Ortiz, president, was in charge and appointed Mrs. Ofelia Anoff as chairman of a New Year's Eve party. Reports were presented by Mrs. Barbara Valencia concerning a Christmas party for members on Dec. 12 and by Donald Valencia who is coordinating a pre-Yuletide project involving gift baskets for needy families.

Guests at the meeting were Roy Valencia, a local serviceman home on leave from duty in Vietnam, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skerle and family.

The commission also made plans to sponsor a special holiday program in which two mothers with sons serving overseas will be selected to make telephone calls at the club's expense.

About 70 were present at the meeting and enjoyed a dinner of Mexican chicken, rice and tortillas. Hostesses were Mrs. Jenny Cook and Mrs. Mary Schmitt.
